Flight Two and Youth Center Quick to Become Community Assets

Summer's over, and Princeton's two youth organizations are thrusting into autumn and new programs. Flight Two — the Council of Community Services' Youth Concerns Committee fledgling — and the Princeton Youth Center — are almost "establishment" by now.

Flight Two with recreation as its main interest, the Youth Center with a strong education program. Will there be, can or should there be, a link between the two groups?

Nobody knows, so far.

"I sense a genuine desire on the part of Flight Two to expand and include the black community," is the comment of Don Evans, director of the Youth Center. "I think we'll come up with something. But so far, Flight Two is not yet relevant to the black community in Princeton."

Flight Two — named because its headquarters at 173 Nassau is up two flights — has left the Youth Concerns Committee nest. It hopes to raise $35,000 for its own programs and those of its sister Street Theatre to continue through next summer.

Money will be sought from individual donors, community groups like churches, P.T.O.s, businesses; agencies like the schools and the recreation board, and from events Flight Two youth will organize as fund-raisers.

As it was during the summer, it will be this fall, according to Barrie Peterson, the Seminary graduate who will stay on as full-time, paid ($7,000 a year) director.

That means programs conceived and run by youth themselves. "The original concept of providing funding for youth to develop their own ideas and take responsibility for effecting those ideas does work," says the Rev. W. Robert Martin, Youth Concerns chairman.

During the summer, Flight Two organized weekly cookouts with mass soccer games, Street Theatre's theatre in Princeton parks, an all-day music festival in Battlefield Park, a weekend camping trip to Vermont, a Flea Market with folk-singing on Nassau Green — and those rock concerts in Marquand Park that taught Flight Two teens so much about the adult Establishment when its eardrums are outraged, and how Borough Council operates when adults appear before it in mass protest.

"There is no competition with existing facilities or programs," Flight Two states.

173 Nassau will continue to be the operations center. Open noon to 6 (no Sundays), plus Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 9, with rap sessions Wednesday at 3.

A Task Force, announces Mr. Peterson, has been organized to investigate a site for a Nassau Street student drop-in center or coffeehouse because "there is a critical need for such a facility."

"The time has come for Princeton to have a year-round, youth-oriented recreation and education facility," declares a Flight Two statement. "A spectacular track record was compiled over the summer and carefully formulated plans have a built-in, long-range view."

Meanwhile, the Princeton Youth Center has opened its fall season.

This Saturday from 2-4, the Center's Educational Committee will present its second annual "College Forum." Young people and parents are invited to come and talk about college opportunities, financial aid, admission requirements and so on. Representatives from some 15 colleges will be around to talk with teens and families.

The Forum was started last year to show black students the opportunities open in higher education. This year, the Education Committee plans to expand and eventually to provide information on technical institutions and available jobs, as well as college opportunities.

As fall arrives, the most excitement at the Center comes from rehearsals for "Blues for Mr. Charley," due to open the first weekend in October. That Sunday, the Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church will present a fashion show and talent show, and toward the end of the month, on October 29, artist Louise Davis will have a show.

Student Vote May Shape Princeton's Future

In a decision which will have a major impact on the Princeton community, State Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfield ruled Tuseday that college students who live on campus may register to vote in the municipalities where they are currently being educated.

Even before estimates can be made of the degree to which such voting will affect the outcome of the November races and referendum, a major problem in handling the resigstration of those 18 and older confronted Princeton Borough and, to a lesser degree, the Township. The deadline for registering for the Novemher 2d election is this Thursday at 9 p.m., and Judge Kingfield refused to extend the deadline.

The decision was reached on the basis of a suit filed by Thomas J. Worden, an 18-year old resident of Somerset County who attends Trenton State College in Ewing Township. Upholding young Worden's assertion that his rights had been violated, Judge Kingfield declared that under the 14th Amendment, the Mercer County Board of Elections and municipal registrars had no justification for denying any student who claims a campus dormitory as "home" the right to vote.

"In my opinion," he said, "any denial of this right to vote constitutes a denial of equal protection of the law under the constitution. There is no reason why students should be treated as a separate class . . ."

One Exception. Judge Kingfield ruled that students should consider their college residence as their homes, and cited clergymen and others whose professions or businesses result in their living in a given community for only a short period of time. He said that only those who plan to return to their present home towns after graduation should be required to register there.

Judge Kingfield's ruling applies only to Mercer County, which includes, in addition to Princeton University, Westminster Choir College, Princeton Theological Seminary, Rider, Trenton State and Mercer County Community College. In all, there are an estimated 10,000 students—about 7% of Mercer's 135,000 registered voters.

Paging Dr. Gallup. In the Borough of Princeton, however, where a great majority of the University's 3,500 undergraduates are 18 or over, the number of registered voters on Tuesday was approximately 4,400. Between now and the night of November 2, political buffs, sociologists and—last but by not means least—the candidates for municipal office, will spend countless hours estimating how the student vote will be split at the polls.

Princeton Township will be considerably less affected. No campus dormitory falls into that municipality, and married graduate students and their wives 21 or over have always had the right to vote here.

Judge Kingfield's decision is not, of course, unprecedented. Rather, it overturns a 1927 opinion by a long-obscure county attorney who ruled that students might no longer vote in their college towns.

Until that year, Princeton undergraduates 21 or over had voted in the Borough. The early political career of B. Franklin Bunn, only man ever to serve as mayor of both Princetons, owes a debt to students who went to the polls to back their beloved "Uncle Ben."

ZONING CHANGES MADE

In Township. North Square, the phantom office building that was once to take shape on the northern marches of Mt. Lucas Road, continues to haunt the news, and may even have become a Township election issue.

By a clear-cut 3-2 party line vote Monday night, Township Committee passed the amendment to the zoning ordinance that wipes out office buildings in the Service Zones of the municipality. Township planners want these zones to be for local retail services.

Democrats Mayor James A. Floyd, Thomas Hartmann (both seeking re-election) and Jay Bleiman voted "yes" on the amendment, thereby wiping out North Square once again. Republicans John D. Wallace and Dean Chace voted "no." It is the same alignment that killed North Square last spring.

The 12-story office building, whose rejection by both the Regional Planning Board and Township Committee is now before Superior Court, due for October hearing, would have been constructed in the Service zone that comprises the Mt. Lucas Road, Route 206 area.

Decision "Unfair." Mrs. Barbara Smoyer, Republican candidate for Committee, asked what would happen if the court reversed Committee's decision and allowed North Square. Attorney Gordon Griffin said the zoning in effect at the time of the court's decision would prevail, which means that the structure would not be allowed under the new amendment. Mrs. Smoyer told Committee it was "unfair" to change the zoning while the case was still being reviewed.

Office buildings as desirable rateables and places where Township residents could find jobs were defended by William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue. The interpretation of "service" as local service only, is not in the public interest, Mr. Cherry declared.

"The amendment doesn't forbid office buildings in the Township," pointed out Mr. Bleiman. "They are allowed—and encouraged — in the Office Research zone. It's in the Service Zones that they are not allowed.

Office buildings already exist in these zones, and Robert Dix, attorney for Philip Golden protested to Committee that Mr. Golden would not now be able to expand his present Route 206 building. He added that "it is discriminatory to allow banks and keep out offices."

Office Zoning Favored. Dr. Arnold Hirsch, 211 North Harrison, protested the new Professional Office - Residential zone on North Harrison because it continues to allow homes. Dr. Hirsch would like it to be all professional.

Harris Barnett, 249 State Road, urged a kind of escrow for black-top parking: setting parking spaces aside, but not paving them until a tenant came along who needed them all.

John Bauman, 631 Mt. Lucas, a leader in the anti-North Square battles, suggested that parking formulas be based on the number of people working in a building, rather than on floor area.

Mr. Wallace hoped Committee would agree to discuss the amendment in executive session or even send it back to the Township Planning Board, and when he moved this Mr. Chace seconded him. But the other three voted them down, and soon the amendment itself was passed, 3-2.

"It is unusual to hear an hour and a half of comment and then rezone a substantial part of the community without further consideration," declared Mr. Wallace with some bitterness.

He cited the Planning Board's August 26 public hearing, and said not enough people had known it was being held.

"This measure was sent to us with the Planning Board's recommendation after much deliberation," retorted Mr. Hartmann.

Adequate Notice Given (Mayor Floyd said, at his press conference the next day, that copies of the new amendment had been sent to everyone who has expressed interest in the subject over many months, and he pointed out that the meeting had been announced in local papers.)

(At the August 26 Planning

"Square" Political?

The old North Square office tower seems to be politically in the news, and Township Republican candidates pointed out recently that it was rejected by the three Committee Democrats and supported by the two Committee Republicans.

But a look at the record shows that the controversial building hasn't been all that political.

Last month, when the Township Planning Board approved the zoning change that apparently wiped the building out permanently, one of those approving the measure was Hans K. Sander, board chairman, who has been an active Township Republican for many years. He also voted "no" on North Square as a Regional Planning Board member.

Another Republican opposed to North Square — a Borough Republican, to be sure — is Council candidate Arthur P. Morgan, who voted it down as a member of the Regional Planning Board.

William Sutphin, Regional Planning Board member who is usually regarded as a Democrat, voted in favor of North Square. He was absent at the August meeting of the Township Planning Board.

November will start on Thursday, the 6th, with a "Job Forum" and jobs are the big thrust at the Center this year, according to Mr. Evans and to Len Brown, assistant director.

Over the summer, the Center tied in with one agency or another and found jobs for more than 20 kids. Western Electric and RCA were the chief employers.

"Jobs are crucial in Princeton for black kids," Mr. Evans points out. "We hope to make this summer job program into a permanent, yearlong thing. Kids get highly motivated in the summer when they have a job and we want that to continue."

What They Need. Usually, Mr. Evans observes somewhat ruefully, emphasis is on jobs for drop-outs. He'd like to see more emphasis on catching a kid "before he's involved in the failure syndrome — kids want to earn, they want to graduate from high school, they need jobs and money."

Youth Center people have been meeting with businessmen and with Dr. Charles Huchet, director of the schools' Special Services, to try and keep summer jobs going.

"Emphasis at the Center this year will be on the quality of our involvement with kids, not just the number of kids we get in here," Mr. Evans says. "We have twice as many people on our staff this year, so we can emphasize quality and still take in all the kids who come."

"Also, we're going to concentrate on referrals—sending people with problems we can't handle to the agencies that have the skills. We hope to be a kind of go-between.

"For example, high school guidance people go home at 3. What good is that to a working parent? We hope we can arrange hours, or work with the guidance counsellors ourselves, with the parents' permission, although we don't want to counsel — we want to make it possible for kids to get counselling."

These two youth organizations, then, with their widely different themes, their different approach, two organizations focused on Princeton's young people and their needs, may go it successfully alone or find that each can enrich the other.

Board meeting, the vote for the amendment was 5-0, with three members absent. Mr. Wallace, who attended, left before the vote was taken.)

The new amendment also allows types of cluster development in the Office Research zone (formerly the Engineering Zone). Clustering is designed to make building easier for small developers. That part of the revision passed Committee 5-0.

In other business, Committee unanimously passed the ordinance requiring registration of all rental units and setting up a fee schedule. The measure is designed to strengthen enforcement of housing codes through inspection, as well as registration.

A Source of Income? Alfred Kahn, 21 Olden, asked whether the ordinance was intended "to penalize landlords and increase salaries of board of health members."

"Inspection of rental units doesn't assume the landlord is in violation any more than inspection of an automobile assumes the owner is in violation," retorted Mayor Floyd, and Mr. Chace added, "Board of Health members are unpaid."

Princeton University's units are included in the registration requirement, but no inspections or fees are required, said Mr. Griffin, because the University is a non-profit educational institution.

Exemptions apply only to the University's on-campus rentals, Mr. Griffin continued. Last year's Educational Zone changes put both the Harrison Street "project" and the faculty apartments across the street in off-campus residential areas, Committee observed.

Mayor Floyd announced the resignation of Dr. Donald Pickering from the Board of Health and then appointed Mrs. Neil Peterson, 75 Littlebrook, in his place. A former staff member of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, she was co-ordinator for New Jersey's State Narcotics Program, Mayor Floyd said.

He also named: Mrs. Margaret Broadwater to the Zoning Board and James Ward as a Zoning Board alternate; Mrs. David Mayer to the Conservation Commission replacing Mrs. Roland Machold, and five members to the Reassessment Advisory Council.

Realtors appointed to the Council are Karl Light, Mrs. Lawrence Norris Kerr, Robert Dougherty and John Houghton. Also named to the group is Henry J. Frank.

TEACHER KILLED, 4 HURT

In Bruere's Hill Crash. A mathematics teacher at the Peddie School was killed and four residents from southern New Jersey were hospitalized as the result of a savage crash between two cars not far from the crest of Breure's Hill at 1:08 Sunday morning.

Dead is David R. Kiviat, 46, who had been at the Hightstown school for 16 years. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Princeton Hospital. An autopsy listed death as the result of massive internal hemorrhaging of the chest cage.

A cum laude graduate of Peddie in 1942, Mr. Kiviat graduated from Princeton University in 1946 and received his master's degree from Columbia two years later. He was a senior housemaster at one of the school's newest dormitories and the director of several school clubs.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Kiviat of Ocean County and a twin, Robert J. Kiviat of Fort Washington, Pa. The family formerly lived in Dutch Neck.

Alone in Car. Mr. Kiviat was traveling alone at the time of the mishap. Those injured in the second car—a small foreign model—were the driver, Brian Denson, 22, of Sweetwater; his passenger, Catherine Clark, 18, of Lindenwold, and Joseph Mann, 23, of Stratford and his wife, Janis, 20, who were riding in the back seat. All four suffered fractured thigh bones as a result of the sudden deceleration.

In addition, Miss Clark sustained severe lacerations of the face and neck and body and a possible concussion. Her condition was described by Princeton Hospital as fair. She was thrown from the car.

Mr. Denson received a fractured right arm, multiple facial and neck lacerations and a possible concussion. Mrs. Mann, who was sleeping at the time and was the least seriously injured, sustained a deep laceration of the chin and other lacerations and bruises. Her husband suffered multiple lacerations. All the victims were transported to Princeton Hospital by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

"IT LOOKED AS IF A BOMB HAD HIT IT" said a Township policeman of the car in which a Peddie School teacher was killed Sunday in a two-car collision on Bruere's Hill. (Staff Photo)

Sgt. Robert Heacock of Princeton Township is conducting the investigation. He reported that he has not as yet been able to talk at any length with the survivors. Assisting him at the scene were Sgt. Anthony Nini, Township traffic safety officer; Township Ptl. Harry Morton, Sgt. Robert Anderson, Ptl. Thomas Michaud and Ptl. Ronald Holliday from the Borough police and two Lawrence Township officers.

Former Member Cited. In addition, all three units of the Princeton First Aid Squad—two ambulances and a rescue truck—plus 10 squad members were at the scene giving assistance. A former First Aid member, Richard Traegler was on his way home to Ewing Township when he saw the Clark girl lying in the roadway, bleeding profusely from the neck.

Mr. Traegler stopped and applied a pressure bandage until the First Aid Squad arrived. Police credited him with saving the girl's life.

The mishap took place on a small straightaway between two slight curves just before the descent of Bruere's Hill. The Kiviat car was heading toward Princeton; the Denson car toward Trenton.

According to Sgt. Heacock, the Kiviat car apparently went out of control after rounding the shallow curve leading to the straightaway. It went into a side skid across the opposite lane where it was hit head-on on the right side.

The impact tore open the entire right side of Mr. Kiviat's sports car. "It looked like a bomb had hit it," commented Sgt. Nini. Thrown from the car, Mr. Kiviat was found between the car and a roadside hedge by police.

After impact, which contracted it by three feet police said, the Denson car continued on and came to rest against a hedgerow. The weather was cloudy but the roads were dry at the time of the crash.

Fifth Wallet Found. As police were collecting personal belongings left in the Denson car, they found a fifth wallet belonging to a Patricia Harrison. Thinking there may have been another victim, the First Aid Squad returned and with the searchlight from their rescue truck, squad members searched the areas next to the highway for more than an hour.

Later, Sgt. Heacock was able to ascertain from the Clark girl that Miss Harrison, a school mate of her's, had been in the car earlier that day and had left her purse in the car. According to the police, the four passengers in the car had come north to try to visit the Trenton State Fair, had become lost and were heading back home when the tragedy took place.

None of the victims wore safety belts. Sgt. Heacock said that it was his belief had they worn belts, Mr. Kiviat would not have been killed and the Clark girl would not have been as badly injured as she was. He added that when he concludes his investigation, he will present his findings to a grand jury.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

For School Board. Because of the observance of Yom Kippur, the September meeting of the Princeton Regional School Board will be held next Monday, September 27, instead of Tuesday. It will take place at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

The agenda includes board support for proposed state legislation which would abandon tenure for superintendents and substitute three to five year contracts.

At Tuesday's agenda meeting, Superintendent Philip E. McPherson said he supported the abolition of tenure for the superintendency. It also has the support of the state's association of superintendents. If passed, the measure would not affect superintendents who now have tenure.

Thomas Cook, board counsel, warned that passage of the bill might jeopardize the positions of superintendents in cities where school posts have traditionally been filled as political plums and where tenure offers genuine job protection.

The measure does not propose abolition of tenure for either administrators or teachers, Mr. Cook reported.

Board member Philip Cruickshank asked for a progress report on formation of a curriculum committee and Dr. McPherson said he could report more definitively in about 10 days.

Dr. Cruickshank also asked the status of his request for a report on Princeton students compared to other students, nationwide, on the basis of test scores.

Charles Huchet, director of Special Services, said data on Nowa and DAT tests administered to 6th and 8th grades was scattered, incomplete and therefore difficult to assemble correctly and interpret. He said he had turned for help to Educational Testing Service. Dr. McPherson said ETS had agreed to undertake a long range study of Princeton's tests. He promised a report in October.

Drivers' Ed. Available. Driver Education is moving along the road, reported Princeton High Principal Trisha Werthheimer. She said one car and two teachers were already available with a second car on the way, and the teachers are almost through their special training. PHS's 30 hours of theory plus six hours behind-the-wheel meets standards for reduced automobile insurance, reported Associate Superintendent Wesley Johnson.

Proposals for religion and sex education in the schools will be presented at next Monday's meeting. A revised policy on suspension and expulsion of students will also be up for discussion.

The $500 won by the board from the Thom McAn Corporation in recognition of the Wednesday Program will be donated to the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation, established by the high school PTA to encourage development of a permanent scholarship fund.

"PCH" TO COMMITTEE

For Approval. Princeton Community Housing's long, long road home will take it to the doors of Township Committee Monday night at 8 for a special meeting and, PCH hopes, the nod to go ahead.

Last week, the Princeton Regional Planning Board approved PCH's site plan completely, and its subdivision plans conditionally (engineering details, chiefly.)

The planners have written to Township Committee asking it to overturn the Township Zoning Board recommendation on use of the pipeline. Transcontinental Pipeline's swath bisects PCH's land. Zoning members stipulated that no recreational activities be allowed there.

However, the board feels it would be impractical to try and keep children from using the wide, grassy area, and hopes Committee will feel the same.

The Planning Board also approved Princeton Theological Seminary's plans for clustered faculty homes on Mt. Lucas Road. Board members told Ridgely Cook of Thanet Corporation that he must build a retention pond in connection with developing a Thanet lot on North Harrison.

THE CAMPAIGN

Borough, Township. Borough Democrats held their first press conference of the campaign, the maverick Independent candidate for Borough mayor issued her first statement and the Township Republicans made a statement on environment as the fall campaign moved ahead.

We say "Good-bye!"

After having set a record for the amount of rainfall in its final month, summer is moving soggily into history. This Thursday (at 11:45 a.m.) autumn arrives.

It will be a bit cooler, less humid, and still on the damp side — at least for the first few days. Midweek temperatures dipped down into the 50s, following all that electricity that bounced around in the heavens early Tuesday morning.

Showers are a possibility both Friday and Saturday, the Man reported, without a trace of sympathy. After all, he noted, the autumnal equinox is here, and that traditionally means rain.

Topics Of The Town

Male, running for re-election to Council, revealed that her transportation propsals have moved far enough along so that two kinds of bus service may be available in Princeton by November — but not before Election Day, November 2.

Mrs. Male credited the new Joint Borough-Township Transportation Committee with pushing the new plans forward.

First: Mercer Metro, the County bus line, may send three routes around Princeton hourly, for a 10c fare. Routes would cover Witherspoon-Valley, Harrison-Ewing and Riverside. Second: institutions may agree to open parking lots for individual cars whose owners would be picked up by Princeton Regional School System buses and driven to the center of town.

All Saints, Friends' Meeting, Unitarian Church, Italian-American Sportsmen's Club and the University's Jadwin Cage lots are under consideration, she said.

She added her hope that the Township would eventually buy land for lots and install meters. (Township Mayor James A. Floyd, asked to comment later, said quickly that he hoped such purchase would be a joint Borough-Township venture.)

Mrs. Male opposes multiple-use buildings in the Borough, providing apartments, parking garages and shops all in the same structure. "They create more traffic problems," she declared.

Mr. Strange listed five issues — ending the war in Vietnam, and four local issues, as vital to Princeton: housing, the environment, protection of citizens' rights and budgeting procedures.

He endorsed the new (July) state law forbidding seizure of personal property for rent by landlords, and allowing tenants to take landlords to court for not making necessary repairs.

For Princeton, he proposed a multiple-use building on the Playhouse parking lot, with housing and parking space. He said it should not be a "barrier separating one part of town from another."

He announced plans to introduce an ordinance for municipal recycling of metal and glass. Such re-cycling can produce revenue for the Borough, he said, adding that re-cycling was feasible for all metals if they are stock-piled in quantity.

He would like to contract with a private concern for picking up newspapers. Such pick-up is too expensive for a municipality, he said.

He urged continued appointment to municipal boards of residents from all sections of the community and charged that previous Councils have failed in this area.

"Im am appalled by the Borough's budgetary procedures," Mr. Strange said. He cited the Joint Recreation Commission in particular, and declared that their budget information was "incomprehensible, erroneous and badly presented." Information on lights for the swimming pool was especially inadequate, he charged.

Recycling Drive to Resume

Leon Zullo, the one man without whom the whole recycling program could not operate, is back again, and the Conservation Coalition has scheduled the next collection for Saturday, October 2.

The collection, to run from 9 to noon, will be moved to the two parking lots north of the student lot used until now, but drivers should enter the University grounds from the same entrance.

With summer over, the Coalition expects a larger crowd than ever for its eighth drive, and needs many more volunteers to help with unloading, loading and other duties.

Edward Schneier running for mayor, suggested a new Master Plan to cope with expanding communities like Plainsboro. He urged broader regional philosophies and declared that Princeton's mayor should be a lobbyist and "spokesman for the community" on such matters as tax reform, or spending for weapons.

"A mess!" is the way he characterized Nassau Street traffic and Princeton parking generally, pointing out, how-

Duncan Moves Into New Season With Multi-Media Company

Stuart Duncan, Versatile Princeton Producer

For any other producer, three hits in three tries in less than a year would be box-office happiness.

But for Stuart Duncan, Princeton-based impressario, it's only a curtain-raiser. It doesn't even count the two shows planned for the '71-'72 season, the major musical with Angela Lansbury, the two films, the formation of a music publishing house, the affiliation with a top theatrical agent and a TV branch.

"We're working toward a multi-media organization," says Mr. Duncan, somewhat unnecessarily.

"We" is Lanshury-Duncan Productions, formed on January 1 with Edgar Lanshury, another producer with whom Mr. Duncan had been associated in various enterprises. (Edgar and Angela are siblings. And somewhere in there is Bruce Lansbury, the TV producer, who's Edgar's twin brother. He's involved with Lansbury-Duncan's television branch.)

For many years, Stu Duncan put in time with Lea and Perrins, his family's enterprise. Then he left and went briefly into advertising. But the theatre has always been the spice and life-blood of his existence, and every now and then he would dart into New York and produce a hit, just for fun ("Under the Sycamore Tree," "Misalliance," "Arms and the Man" and, as though a dash of bitters were needed, a Gertrude Stein disaster called "Yes is for a Very Young Man.")

No Waiting for "Godot". Two days after Lansbury-Duncan was formed, the two partners decided to produce a revival of Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot." Decision on January 3. Opening night February 3. And it's still running, currently with Tom Ewell, whose career has been revived and transfused by the critical and public praise he has been receiving.

"Then we decided we had to do THE definitive production of something in order to get prestige," Mr. Duncan says.

It was Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night," last done on Broadway in the mid-'50s with Frederic March, Florence Eldridge and Jason Robards Jr.

"We deliberately picked this one because we wanted something that had been a success before. We needed a superb cast — and we got one! Geraldine Fitzgerald, Robert Ryan, Stacey Keach . . . Everybody loved it, and we pulled it off. It won 'Best Direction,' 'Best Actress,' 'Best Supporting Actor' and 'Most Promising New Actor' — that was James Naughton."

When he isn't talking or chortling with excitement, Mr. Duncan likes to puff a pipe and it's a contented pipe he puffs when he talks about "Long Day's Journey," It opened April 21 and ran six months.

"Godspell" Current Hit. "Godspell" is the third and latest hit and in popular acclaim, probably the biggest: its cast album has been in the top hundred for eight weeks and the producers expect a one-million sale (it's the only cast album in five years to have made that list); a single song, "Day by Day" is in the top hundred.

"Godspell" itself is one of the ten longest-running off-Broadway shows and the production has been moved uptown to a bigger theatre.

Openings in Los Angeles, Boston and Chicago are set for November, December and January. "February is still open," puffs Mr. Duncan.

Scheduling sets off a roar of laughter — "we open in L.A. on November 9 — then we open in both London and Melbourne on November 11 — and we've got three one-act plays opening in New York on November 4!"

The London opening is Lansbury-Duncan's own. Melbourne, Paris, Hamburg, Stockholm and Rome productions are being mounted by people who bought the rights.

Princeton Money. All the money backing 'Godspell' was raised in Princeton, in the Duncan's Elm Road house on a single afternoon. It cost only $22,500 — same as the O'Neill —although Variety says you can't do an off-Broadway show for less than $100,000.

Maybe Two P.J.&B.'s

Annual musical productions under the Princeton Junction-and-Back banner have been so gloriously successful for so many years that McCarter may do something daring this season and present two P.J.&B. musicals.

The constellations seem to be right. No repertory company in resident, but Director Milton Lyon very definitely in residence. So why not?

Once again, the standard big P.J.&B. amateur-semi-pro show will be given in December, to harmonize with Triangle Club's shift to a spring production date.

The second P.J.&B. might be given in early spring, and it might be a musical with a smaller cast than the usual 100-beautiful-girls-100 spectacular. It's all "maybe" and "possibly," but it's definitely being talked about.

A complex, confidential and delightfully practical formula accounts for the successful accounting, Mr. Duncan says with prideful glee.

The O'Neill made 50% on the original investment. "Godot" has paid back its investors. Only four off-Broadway shows made money last season and three of them were Lansbury-Duncan.

" 'Godspell' is now the accepted establishment Jesus show — the show that BELIEVES." says the producer happily," 'Jesus Christ Superstar' is the political one."

"Godspell" has a warm, warm place in the Duncan heart. Mr. Duncan likes to tell how young John Michael-Tebelak, a student in drama at Carnegie-Mellon, conceived the work after he was searched for pot by Pittsburgh police in the nave of a church on Easter morning.

John eventually worked it into his master's thesis, without music, and it was presented in New York at the Cafe La Mama experimental theatre. A teacher at Carnegie-Mellon urged Lansbury-Duncan to see it, and they did.

They hired Stephen Schwartz for the score — it was his first. Since then, of course, he's worked on the jazz portions of the Bernstein "Mass", to critical hosannas. Like everybody else with "Godspell" Mr. Schwartz is a young guy — 22 years, at the last count.

Where Next? Now, about the future . . .

"Louis and the Elephant" is the general title of the three one-acters by Eddie Lawrence set for New York on November 4.

"The Magistrate," by Arthur Wing Pinero, will open later, with Princeton's Phil Minor as director. "The Magistrate" has never been given in New York before, for some reason.

That big musical with Sister Angela will be "Sister." Music by Stephen Schwartz and book by Paul Zindell, who wrote "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man in the Moon Marigolds."

Films? "The Escape Artist," to be filmed in New York (a major studio has already made an offer) . . . and Budd Shulberg's "Sanctuary Five," to be made in Spain. Time? "Whenever we can fit it in!"

Musie Maximus Limited is the publishing outlet. The TV branch has already bought the rights for showing Canadian pro football and sold them to NBC. "Eventually," says Mr. Duncan happily, "we will produce and market our own TV shows . . ."

"Cross-collateralization" is the way the producer explains it all. Considering the New York-London-Melbourne orientation, the next cross-collaterization will probably be an airline.

FOLK ROCK!

Season Ready to Rock. The Beach Boys at Dillon Gym and Carly Simon at McCarter Theatre will open the annual folk-rock series presented by McCarter.

Miss Simon will get things rocking on Wednesday, October 13 at McCarter. One of the fastest-rising performers of the current scene, she writes most of her own songs, including her recent hit, "That's The Way I've Always Heard It Should Be."

Next comes Seals and Crofts (Saturday, October 16), who made their Princeton debut two years ago and decided to return.

Kris Kristofferson, singer, songwriter, ("Me and Bobby McGee"), will come to Princeton for the first time on Saturday, October 30, for an appearance at McCarter.

The Beach Boys, led by Brian and Dennis Wilson, are due Saturday, November 13 at Dillon Gym. That's a special concert for the Yale game weekend, presented in cooperation with WPRB, the campus radio station.

Creators of the original California surfing sound 'way back in the mid-'60s, The Beach Boys have developed a new contemporary rock style, although they still include some old surfing numbers on their programs, just for old-time's' sake.

The folk-rock schedule will end with Boz Scaggs and his rock-jazz band on Saturday, November 20, and folksinger Livingston Taylor (brother of James) on Friday, December 3.

Tickets sale for The Beach Boys only, will open Monday, October 4. Tickets for the other events are on sale now.

AUDITIONS BEGIN

For "Seagull." Sallie Brophy, who's going to direct Chekhov's "The Seagull" for Community Players, will talk about her concept of the play to members and friends of the Players this Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road at Route 206.

Then auditions will begin, after her talk. Auditions will be held again the following evening — next Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the Unitarian church, and casting will still be in progress next Tuesday.

The Canes share an idea that is, today, distressingly rare. They think that wood furniture should be made of wood, brass lamps of brass, and that plastic is best restricted to toothbrush handles and toys. And they've done something about their idea: assembled several hundred fine upholstered pieces, museum re-creations, hand-crafted accessories, and custom-made furnishings, and put them all under one roof at Cane Farm. You can come see them, savor them, and buy them for reasonable prices.

IT'S NEW To Us

WHAT DO YOU NEED?

Try Woolworth's. Students outfitting their dormitory rooms, householders browsing the glassware, kids thumping the penny gum machine—this is the passing scene at Woolworth's on Nassau Street.

A pony-tailed girl picks out a framed picture, a green bowl and a manilla portfolio. She asks the cashier to hold them for her, disappears and comes back with two more black frames. A man buying a card of thumbtacks steps back and lets her squeeze through.

In the aisles, a child sleeps in his stroller while his grandmother considers the cosmetics. She's looking at Blot 'n Blush, $1. A woman in white shorts brushes by, carrying a flowered lampshade up to the check-out, a dish rag and a spray of red ceramic fruit dangling over her arm.

Browsing the long rows of greeting cards is a woman in a chic gold jumpsuit holding a roll of silver-and-white striped gift wrapping and a brown bag that probably holds the gift.

You see a hundred small and large needs being met at the 5&10. The crowd is particularly thick around the rugs in the rear of the store. A student in jeans, a bar-striped shirt and Adidas shoes ponders the nylon pile rugs. A 5'x6' is $10.99. He pulls out the sea-going green and heads for the cashier. Other rugs include scatters in two-color tweeds and heather looks and figured cuts. The 24"x36" is $2.99. All are machine washable.

Three girls, obviously students, are looking at the 27" wide carpeting ($1 a linear foot) and move on to the pile of 9x12's in orange and good tweed with a shaggy texture.

"That pile of shag scatter rugs was up to there at the beginning of this week!" a green-smocked saleswoman remarks. The acrylic and polyester shags remaining come in electric orange, gold, pea green or cherry red. ($5.99). A young male student buys a matching pair — in orange, of course.

Looking around Woolworth's, you see a dark-haired man trying on slippers; an Asian mother looks at size 2' red plaid sneakers ($2.99). Three girls race in and try on gym sneakers ($2.99).

The traffic sign floor mats strike the fancy of a young couple. "Stop" is woven in black on a red, seven-sided rug, and "Go" in white on a round, green one. "Yield" comes in black on a yellow triangle. ($3.49).

A young couple digs into the shower curtain piles, where there are vinyls in decorator stripes, solids and nylon eyelet backed by plastic under curtain. The prices range from $1 to $3.99.

The goldfish are a target for the school moppets. A brother and sister consider the 19 cent price. A black-haired girl ruffles happily through the round counter filled with such signs as "Drive-in Movie—Adults Keep Out." (15 cents).

A bearded man in his thirties adds candles to his shopping basket, already filled with packs of ruled note paper. He rounds the aisle and adds a bag of potato chips.

In the lingerie department, a stately woman holds up a pair of sensible, white underpants — no lace. (69 and 89 cents). She selects several pair and moves along. Beyond a teenager looks at lacy bras.

A blacked-jeaned girl in a skinny-rib shirt picks out packets of airmail envelopes and stationery. She heads on to the unpainted bookcases ($13.99). She passes a long-haired young girl in boyish clothes who is deciding on satan hair ribbons. (Six ribbons for $1). Another buys a plaid, plastic barret. $1)

A young man with a rope headband and a Service shirt plunks down two boxes of dye on the cashier's counter — one red, one green. Behind him a girl holds a set of baking pans. More shag rugs appear, to trim up a dormitory room, also a tin wastebasket, "U.S. Mail."

A practical-looking young woman passes, a bandanna on her head and in her arms curtain rods, a rubber sink mat, floor wax and a screwdriver.

Among the clothing counters, a man picks out knitted shirts (2 for $7) and considers the no-iron dress shirts ($3.99).

And, an inevitable Princeton sight, a customer reads the paperbacks. She's a gray haired woman whose blue denim sneakers match her skirt. She's fast skimming "God is an Englishman."

. . . . That's Woolworth's.

IT'S A SHOE-IN

At Hulit's. High-gaited families are crowding into Hulit's shoe store on Nassau Street these days, where the offerings come in incredible variety — from silver, latticed evening sandals to classic lace-up boots and from Swedish wood-soled shoes to Bass's famous "Tacks,".

There are Florsheim's for men and women; moccasins for boys and girls, ballet slippers, baby's first shoes, all-weather boots, bedroom slippers, sneakers; name it, the store probably has it.

For the ladies, Florsheim's easy-walking Ramblers with a medium heel and built-in arch support. Some in stitched calf, others in crinkle-look patent, all with a double tuck stitched across the restrained front vamp.

And Air Steps' black suede with a medium heel, and a line of gold across the instep, a comfortable dressy shoe. From Joyce, outsize metal buckles, Cavalier-style, across the high front vamp. Choose from crinkle patent, or black, blue, brown or wine, or two tones of brown in suede.

For legmanship, boots with chunky heels; in black, if you like, with to-the-knee shirring above the patent pump, or a combination of textures, or classic lace-ups, or sculptured lines, and even embroidery up the sides of a white boot.

Those ever-comfortable Swedish clogs have a layer of colorless rubber below the wooden sole. The tops are suede, in various solid colors.

We also found the men's favorite crepe-soled Tacks by Bass — in solid camel color suede or navy calf with red diagonal trim at the arch. Ked's brings out a similar version in canvas — black on white.

Both boys and girls are buying the simple, sturdy flats, often in rough leather or suede, sometimes in a combination of the leathers. From Sandler, they like the ankle highs — most of which are a combination of suede and calf in the same color.

The moccasins range from beaded and fringed to the Bass Weejuns, all in earthy browns.

The pay-off at Hulit's, we thought, was a pair of "bare traps — a non-combat boot" — which are for free-wheeling young men. Open-toed, with a gladiator look, there are ankle-protecting sides of heavy leather that come up the sides, and over the arch, held by a wide strap based under the heel.

Scots Plaids

Time-honored clan tartans are available at Clayton's on Palmer Square in the fabric department. We noticed ancient Buchanan, Menzie, Baird, Graham of Montcith, dress Thompson, muted Cockburn and many others.

All in pure wool, woven in Scotland, retailing at $11/yard, 54 inches wide. You need at least two yards for a long kilt or a little over a yard for a short one. Clayton's will order for you, if the plaid you want is not in stock.

News Of The Theatres

"The Seagull" has major roles for four women ranging in age from 20 to 50 and for six men, age 20 to 60.

Producers like to say that for every character on stage, three or more are required backstage. So the Players will be casting for props, costumes, sound, lights, scenery and publicity, as well.

"The Seagull" will be presented Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 12-13-14 and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 18-19-20.

Players meetings are open to anyone in the community who would like to attend.

ANTON MEILLER TO PLAY

In Westminster Recital. Anton Meiller, one of Europe's most famous organists and most versatile musicians, will give a recital at Westminster Choir College on Monday, as part of his fourth American concert tour. The recital, which is open to the public without charge, will begin at 8 p.m.

Since 1945, whe he was appointed professor of organ at the Academy of Music in Vienna, Mr. Meiller has toured all the countries of Western Europe as a recitalist, and is frequently called upon as a consultant when organs are being constructed or restored.

Renowned for his improvisational ability (In 1952 he won First Prize at the Improvisation Concours in Haarlem, Holland.) Mr. Meiller was the first Austrian organist since Anton Bruckner to play in England when he was invited to give three recitals at Royal Festival Hall in London.

THEATRE, FOR KIDS

Saturdays. Young actors in the Creative Theatre for Youth Acting Company will present "Renard the Fox" as the first offering in a new series called "Experience in Theatre" for children.

The series will be presented the first Saturday in every month at the Little Theatre in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road off Route 206, and "Renard" will be given November 6 at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Donations will be accepted at the door in lieu of admission charge.

"Experiences" will include not only plays, but playmaking by the children themselves, workshops and happenings — each month something different, but always something related to the theatre.

Creative Theatre's Youth Acting Company is available for performances before other groups in any kind of location. Information may be obtained from Sharoin Brown, McCarter Theatre, 921-8700.

AROUND THE WORLD

With International Film Series. "Ma Nuit Chez Maud" will open McCarter Theatre's International Film Series for '71-'72 with a showing on Tuesday, October 5 at 7 and 9 p.m.

Films from seven nations will be screened in the course of the series, and all of the films are new to Princeton.

Most of the other films will be shown Tuesdays at 8 p.m. On the list are Roberto Rossellini's "The Rise of Louis XIV"; Godard's latest called "Wind from the East;" Robert Bresson's "Au Hasard, Balthasar;" Bo Widerberg's first feature, "Raven's End" (he made this one before he did "Elvira Madigan"); Akira Kurosawa's "Red Beard" (a three-hour epic about life in a 19th-century Japanese hospital; Peter Fleischmann's "Hunting Scenes from Lower Bavaria;" Ermanno Olmi's "The Sound of Trumpets"; Marco Bellochio's "China is Near;" the British film "Performance" with Mick Jagger and James Fox; Carl Reiner's "Where's Poppa?" and Aram Avakian's screen version of John Barth's novel, "The End of the Road."

Series subscripitions are on sale at the McCarter box-office.

"WILL ROGERS"

To Open McCarter Season. When James Whitmore comes on stage in "Will Rogers' U.A.," he is not Will Rogers. He doesn't try for an exact reproduction of Rogers, and in fact doesn't even speak with Rogers' Oklahoma drawl.

What he does is to evoke "the wit of the western corral," which Rogers exemplified so strongly. It's the wit of the man whose comic spirit always had an edge—but no malice. ("I could have gone to West Point, but I was too proud to talk to a Congressman.")

Whitmore will open McCarter Theatre's season with two performances of "Will Rogers' U.S.A.," one on Friday, October 8 and the other on Saturday, October 9, both at 8:30. Single tickets for this production are now on sale, as well as subscriptions for the entire Playgoers Series.

The series will continue October 21-22-23-24 with four performances of Bob & Ray in "The Two and Only."

Subsequent presentations will be Marcel Marceau; "Butterflies Are Free"; "The Me Nobody Knows;" Jack MacGowran as Samuel Beckett and "No Place to be Somebody".

DANCE EVENTS COMING

Five Companies Ready. The Royal Ballet of Cambodia, known as the Classical Khmer Dancers, will open the dance season at McCarter on Sunday afternoon, November 14.

This Cambodian company of 40 women dancers will be making its first tour of the western world. Normally, the Khmer Ballet makes its home in the Royal Palace at Pnom-Penh.

The second troupe will be the Paul Taylor Company, scheduled for Sunday afternoon, January 9. This will be the first appearance of the Taylor group in McCarter since 1965.

On Sunday, January 30, McCarter will be host to the Ballet Folklorico, the national company of Mexico. Described as a "spectacular extravaganza," the Folklorico comes each season to the United States, bringing 75 singers, dancers and musicians.

Alvin Ailey will once again visit Princeton, this time in February, bringing his American Dance Theatre. Mr. Ailey choreographed the Leonard Bernstein "Mass" that opened the Kennedy Center in Washington.

The dance series will conclude in March with a full-length presentation of Prokofiev's "Cinderella" by the Washington National Ballet. Frederic Franklin, director, will himself appear as one of the Ugly Sisters, a role for which he is renowned in the ballet world.

GARDEN

The Hellstrom Chronicle (now playing). This documentary contains some remarkable color photography of the insect world. It is dedicated to the proposition that man's real enemy on earth is the insect.

An award winner at Cannes this year (Grand Prix de Technique), the film offers science-fiction, science fact, photographic achievement, even horror aspects. Walon Green produced and directed Cameramen Ken Middleham and Helmut Barth deserve awards for their patience and hard work.

PLAYHOUSE

McCabe and Mrs. Miller (now playing) An odd but beautiful-looking movie about a man and woman who successfully introduce vice to a mining camp in the Northwest in the early 1900's.

Warren Beatty, as John McCabe, rides out of the snowy wilderness in the mining camp known as Presbyterian Church. It's about to turn into a town and McCabe stocks it with three bedraggled prostitutes. He finds an aggressive partner in Mrs. Miller (Julie Christie) who imports a new crop of girls from Seattle. Eventually "outside interests" want to buy them out.

The plot is tawdry, the dialogue often crude but in sharp contrast, the photography is extraordinarily beautiful. The town of Presbyterian Church, as it develops, is more fully realized than any of the picturesque characters who make their way through the muddy streets.

PRINCE

Carnal Knowledge (now playing) is a comedy by Mike Nichols and Jules Feiffer about two males who have been preoccupied with sexual gratification from college days in the 1940's until 20 years later, when, after a wife apiece and many mistresses, they are still searching.

It's a commentary on modern morals, often done with wit and spice. The format is a series of skits, all variations on the battle of the sexes theme.

Ann Margaret gives an amazingly good performance; Candice Bergen is the foil for the two protagonists, Arthur Garfunkel and Jack Nicholson.

School Discord Deplored.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

With three of our youngsters in Johnson Park School I feel qualified to report all the wonderful things happening there!

Our children are curious about the world around them: they enjoy looking up answers to the many questions they have, and they eagerly go off to school each day. Although they are sometimes reluctant to admit it, learning at Johnson Park is fun! Recently we were in a doctor's waiting room for considerable time, and I observed that our children were the ones creating games and fun things to do with the odds and ends in the toy box. What is happening in school is helping our youngsters to become curious, creative little individuals.

All five of our children have had many dedicated teachers and this year each has talented and perceptive teachers. No school could possibly have a more warm and helpful secretary than Sandy Jefferson and, of course, Al Procaccino, our custodian, knows and cares about every youngster in the school.

Since one of our youngsters has had a reading problem we know what fantastic success Mrs. Jass and her staff have had and are having with their students. She and her staff honestly get excited with you when your child makes even a small gain.

The secret ingredient in the success in our school, I believe, is an individual approach to each child.

Will all these wonderful experiences continue for your children and ours? I fear not, if the constant and serious discord in the school system is not resolved. This is no doubt over-simplification, but it seems that the individual approach, I believe in, is to be sacrificed in favor of some sort of "group therapy" approach. In my opinion the teachers we most need for our children will move to other school systems as some have already done.

I hope and pray, for the sake of our children, that the school board members will try to see both sides of the issues they are dealing with, and although their time must be divided between family, career and the school board, take time to explore the serious problems and make independent decisions.

A Perfect Pool Season.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am only one of many Princeton residents who, at the end of this summer, are looking back to a perfect and enjoyable ssimming season at our Princeton Community Pool Newcomers to Princeton and the young generation may take the use of this beautiful installation as a self-understood convenience; but if you have previously lived through 25 Princeton summers without it, you appreciate it that much more. I am speaking not only for myself but for a whole group of "over 40" residents if I say a sincere Thank You to the excellent pool management, Mr. Barr, Mr. Roberts, and their efficient and pleasant staff.

Zoning Protection Law.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In its quest for ratables, Montgomery Township has seen fit to allow the development of the Montgomery Shopping Center, Intersection Route 518 and Highway 206. The zoning ordinances which allowed the development of this center presumably would guarantee protection to those most immediately affected, the property owners in Rocky Hill on Washington Street and Merritt Lane.

Any property owner who faces the prospect of having this sort of development close to his house certainly needs the guarantee of an adequate buffer zone to protect him from noise, traffic, litter, glare from lights. The developers of the Princeton Shopping Center and Kendall Park Shopping Center have provided a wide and thoroughly ample buffer zone.

Our neighbors in Montgomery Township simply have not provided such a buffer zone. They claim that there is "a more than adequate 30 foot landscaped buffer zone separating the shopping center from adjoining residences" and that, furthermore, there is a presentable looking six-foot stockade fence serving as a line between the Center and the houses.

Because we can't locate this "adequate 30 foot landscaped buffer zone" and because we object to the hideous fence which is totally inadequate, we have written the zoning officer of Montgomery Township apprising him that we think a violation of the Montgomery Township zoning code has occurred. We have also asked him to investigate the excessive noise of the air conditioning unit of the Thriftway Supermarket, the amount of litter strewn behind the buildings of the shopping center, the violation of hours of business of the pizza restaurant, the glare of lights.

Further, individuals lodged many other complaints due to the greatly increased amount of pedestrian and vehicular traffic. Because of these many problems, on August 31, 1971, we sent a letter to Mr. Walter Raymond, the Zoning Officer of Montgomery Township, asking for an inspection of the violations. Mr. Raymond has not acknowledged receipt of the letter as of this date.

Clearly, we are asking first and foremost for enforcement of the existing Montgomery Township zoning code as it applied to the shopping center. Because the zoning officer and the Rocky Hill Realty, developers of the shopping center, have not shown strong evidence of being good neighbors, we were extremely dismayed to learn of the plans for a community theater with a capacity of 500 seats. A public hearing was held on August 25, 1971. It was one of those unique situations for the Montgomery Township zoning board in that the majority of the affected residents (i.e. those who live within 200 feet of the proposed new development) were from Rocky Hill.

Rocky Hill residents, on Washington Street and Merritt Lane, are opposed to the construction of the theater. A theater means that the shopping center would be in operation seven days a week until 12 p.m.

There would be a disproportionate increase in noise and particularly, a great increase in vehicular traffic. Imagine, for example, when the proposed 4:30 matinee lets out what will happen when some 150-300 automobiles attempt to turn onto Route 206 at the very time when this highway is busiest!

At the August 25, 1971 public hearing, we heard all the usual, carefully constructed testimony from the developer, his architect and attorney. The attorney concluded his presentation by noting that a survey had been done in Montgomery Township which indicated that a community theater was needed.

Is it really, especially at a time when the Princeton theaters are struggling to find enough business? We suspect that the need exists on the part of the developer and the zoners.

On September 14, 1971, the zoning board of Montgomery Township granted a variance recommending that the Montgomery Township committee allow the construction of the community theater. At this meeting, the attorney for the Borough of Rocky Hill expressed the concern of the property owners and that of the Borough.

A number of houses which abut the shopping center have been significantly devalued. Their inhabitants continue to suffer the injuries of excessive noise, glare from lights, litter and trash.

It is a sad commentary when supposedly responsible men are so ruthless in their search for new ratables that they are willing to completely disregard the basic rights of property owners, particularly those like us who are not taxpayers or voters in Montgomery Township.

REGISTER! VOTE! This Thursday, September 23, is the voter registration deadline, and Borough Republicans are out in force, urging people to register, especially 18-20-year-old residents who haven't been eligible before. Left to right are Council candidates Arthur Morgan and Thomas Cawley; Mayor Robert W. Cawley, who's running for a second term (it'll be a four year term instead of two this time, if he wins); Republican Chairman Charles Taggart and Lowell F. Curran, District Two Committeeman.

ever, the difficulty in obtaining matching state or Federal funds to solve the two problems.

He suggested that the Borough might have to allow six-seven story buildings with parking garages and said "Business suffers from the lack of parking space."

Jitney service hasn't been very successful in other communities, he observed, adding that it was better to encourage people not to use their cars. "I hope we can get the public to accept mass transportation," he said.

"The peculiar relations of the University and town youth need more attention," he said, proposing meeting areas off campus, with possibly a town-supported coffee house.

"The townies regard the University as an evil magnet, and the University says townies are invaders," he commented.

Miss Mary Perone, on the slate for Tax Collector, said this week that she believes people should have a direct voice in choosing Tax Collector.

She declared that her Republican opponent, Borough Treasurer Lawrence Patterson, should step down from his post before he campaigns. Under existing state laws, Miss Perone said, she questioned combining the offices of Tax Collector and treasurer in a single person, as the Republicans propose.

Independent. Mrs. Marie Coan, running for mayor on the Independent ticket, is a Democrat whose Independent label is the result of politics within the Democratic party. She is generally regarded as a representative of the party's conservative wing.

"My decision to seek the office of mayor was based on the premise that a large segment of the voting public was not adequately being represented," she stated this week.

She proposed creation of a nine member Advisory Committee to mayor and Council composed of a representative from each voting district, so that officials would be aware of grass-roots sentiment.

Township Republicans. One Township Committeeman should be made liaison between Committee and all environmental groups, is the proposal from Mrs. Barbara Smoyer and John Kuser, Republican candidates for Township Committee.

Mr. Kuser pointed out that some aspects of environmental problems are currently assigned to "the sewer-incinerator committee, others to the engineering and health departments, still others to separate boards. . . . We should have one representative who would serve actively as 'environmental ombudsman', or watchdog. This would assure that environmental implications were always fully evaluated."

Small wonder that people grow cynical and disenchanted with elected and appointed representatives who should dedicate themselves to serve the greater need of people. We thought (perhaps naively) that the Zoning Board shared the ever growing concern over the quality of life and the kind of legacy they will leave to others. We seem to have been mistaken. Perhaps the gentlemen on the Montgomery Township Zoning Board will feel a slight twinge of conscience when they read this letter or when they look at their tax bills which has partially been reduced at the expense of Rocky Hill residents.

The candidate added his desire to make environment his chief concern if he is elected to Committee, and he promised that he would resign as chairman of the board of trustees of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association to avoid conflicts of interest.

Both candidates support regional approaches to waste disposal in Mercer County, and further development of open space and recreation areas.

29 STUDENTS NAMED

As National Merit Semifinalists. Twenty-nine students attending Princeton area schools, including 17 from Princeton High School, have been named semifinialists in the 17th annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

They join some 15,000 other high school seniors, who will compete for about 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1972. The qualifying test was given last February to more than 655,000 pupils in more than 16,600 schools nationwide.

Those named from Princeton High are: Charles L. Ballard, Allyn Dimock, Gregory W. Enders, Katherine Hawthorne, Bruce D. Herzog, Jean B. Hunter, John R. Kyser, Eva R. Lewin, Martha L. Logan, Donald S. Martz, Cheryl A. Rahn, Peter J. Schmidt, Christopher Tilly, Rebecca A. Treiman, Michael D. Werthern, Susan A. White and Leslie J. Wilsher.

Representing Princeton Day School are Susan J. Ecroyd and Giovanni Ferrante. Catherine J. Owens was named from Stuart Country Day School. Richard M. Katz and Pamela Silver from Hopewell Valley Regional High School.

Five were named from the Lawrenceville School, including: Charles P. Anderson, Linsay C. Grillies, Frank K. Mears, David J. Mislan, Charles Montgomery and Hessel E. Yntema.

THE TWAIN MEET

Borough-Township Session. An agenda ranging from purchase of a new fire engine to celebrating the anniversary of 1776 was lined up during the summer for a joint Borough Council-Township Committee executive meeting this Wednesday.

Township Mayor James A. Floyd said at his monthly press conference that a joint drug program committee was "an absolute must" for Borough and Township to consider at the joint meeting.

Both the new IAP drug program and any future drug efforts, he added, should be explored and overseen by a group responsible to local governing bodies.

The possibility of a joint Borough-Township board of health is another question for study, and so is the re-organization of the Sewer Operating Committee. Mayor Floyd pointed out that the proposals of Township Committeeman Dean Chace envision a separate sewer operating entity independent of either Borough or Township.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, at his press conference, listed a study of budgeting processes and possible discussion of Bi-Centennial celebrations in Princeton as part of the agenda. The Borough is also concerned about purchase of a new pumper for Engine Company Number Three.

Wednesday's meeting will unquestionably be followed by more joint meetings of the two governing bodies, Mayor Cawley said.

HOUSING NEXT?

From Township Board. Conversion of private homes into some kind of apartment use is under consideration by the Township Planning Board and a conversion amendment may be ready for public hearing before the board by mid-October, said Mayor James A. Floyd this week.

The Township's planners are revising the zoning ordinance in stages. The most recent amendments to be adopted concerned the office-research, service and professional zones.

"Luxury" apartments are also under consideration by the board, the mayor said, although he protested use of the word "luxury." "It has bad connotations of discrimination," he stated, "let's say that the board is considering apartments for those who wouldn't qualify for low or middle-income units."

FLOOD MONEY?

Township Hopes So. The waters have receded, but the memory will linger on for a long time. Township Mayor James A. Floyd said this week at his monthly press conference that the Township is busy with Federal and state officials and insurance companies to talk about prevention, repair and re-imbursement.

This Friday, the U.S. Corps of Engineers will send representatives to walk Harry's Brook with Township Engineer Joseph Hodak and make recommendations, the mayor said.

"We have no serious thoughts of re-channeling the brook at the moment," he explained, "we don't know the side effects or what damage DEMOCRATIC FUN: The one with the smile isn't a candidate — in fact, he's unidentified. That's James A. Floyd (center) talking with Mrs. Ann Martindell at the Democratic picnic Saturday. might be caused up or-down stream."

A Drainage Master Plan will be blocked out by Mr. Hodak, Joseph R. Nini, Township Administrator and Committeeman Dean Chace, who has the public works portfolio, in conference with experts. The mayor added that a task force of citizen experts might be formed.

"And maybe it will be a joint group with the Borough-Harry's Brook wanders all over town," he said.

The Township is interested in finding out what Federal or state money is available and how much, to repair flood damages to Township sewers, roads and bridges. Mr. Nini is exploring the insurance question to see whether the Township might be eligible.

Meanwhile, Assessor Stuart Robson has announced that Federal funds will be available to reimburse the tax office for the loss of equipment during the flood. Nobody knows yet how much money the Township can collect, he said, pointing out that Federal authorities would take depreciation into account.

VARIANCE SOUGHT

For Used Book Store. In one of four cases scheduled to be heard Thursday night by the Borough Zoning Board, William G. Wallace will seek a use variance to convert a portion of the second floor in the building at 195 Nassau Street to a used book store. The space is presently being used as an office.

The wooden frame building, owned by Bryce Thompson, is located in a RO-1 district, which is zoned only for offices.

Princeton University will seek variances for two sculptures.

The University proposes to erect one in front of the Engineering Quadrangle on Olden Street, six fee from the street line. Zoning laws require a 25-foot setback.

The second sculpture has already been installed near the Nassau Street entrace to Firestone Library. It, too, violates the setback requirement.

William K. Selden, 37 Olden Lane, will seek the board's approval to build a residence on a substandard lot in contiguous ownership located at 58 Westcott Road. Zoning laws prohibit the sale of an undersized lot were there is contiguous ownership.

THEFT REPORT

Wallets, Guitars Stolen. One thing not dampened by all the rain last week was the art of thievery.

Several victims lost wallets. Norma Johnson of Pennington reported her pink wallet containing $12 stolen Monday between 12 and 12:30 p.m. from atop her desk in Greene Hall on the university campus.

John McCormack of North Hall, a student at Westminster Choir College, reported his wallet taken from his room last week. He lost $5. Police said there was no forced entry.

In a second theft at the Choir College, dormitory director Andrew Scrimgeour, reported the theft of a $325 stereo system from his room. Again, there were no signs of forced entry, according to Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm, the investigating officer.

Last week, Mrs. Arlene Siding, a teacher at Princeton High School, had her tan leather pocketbook stolen during a 15-minute period while she was in the school auditorium. She gave police the name of a suspect.

Charles Mills, 347 Prospect Avenue, reported losing a $150 guitar from a basement room in Trinity Church. A second guitar valued at $300 was taken from the same room. The owner of that one is Mark

Stan Lavis, sales manager for Nini Plymouth, reported to Township police the theft of two white wall tires and rims, a rear view mirror and gas cap from a 1965 station wagon parked in the used-car lot. They were valued at $60. Police said that a front vent window had been forced open.

Has Purse Snatched. Mrs. Dora Egelkraut, 44 Alexander Street, had her purse containing $50 snatched from her hand Thursday evening while she was walking on Quarry Street in the company of five other women.

Police said that three young men approached them from the rear, grabbed Mrs. Egelkraut's purse and ran north on Witherspoon Street. Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt and Ptl. Kerry Klink investigated.

TRENTON YOUTH CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Robert D. Pearl, 19, of Trenton, has been charged by Township police with possession of marijuana. He faces a court hearing here October 20.

Pearl was arrested by Ptl. Mario Musso at 1 p.m. Sunday, after the officer observed him backing up Province Line Road at the intersection of Stuart Road. Province Line is dead-end.

Upon questing Pearl, Ptl. Musso reported that he detected the odor of marijuana from the suspect's clothes. He allegedly found a cellophane bag of marijuana in Pearl's possession.

Pearl was taken to police headquarters, charged and released. A passenger of his, Jess Savage, 19, of Trenton was not charged.

George Gilbert, 22, who gave police a home address of 8 Harris Road, was arrested around 4 Saturday morning in a room he had rented for the night at Nassau Inn. He was picked up by Lt. Michael Carnevale, Detective Timothy Huizing and Detective Anthony Ranfone, who were armed with a search warrant.

Gilbert's arrest according to Chief Peter J. McCrohan "was the result of a continuing investigation in that area that we have been conducting for some time." Gilbert is scheduled to appear in Borough Court October 6.

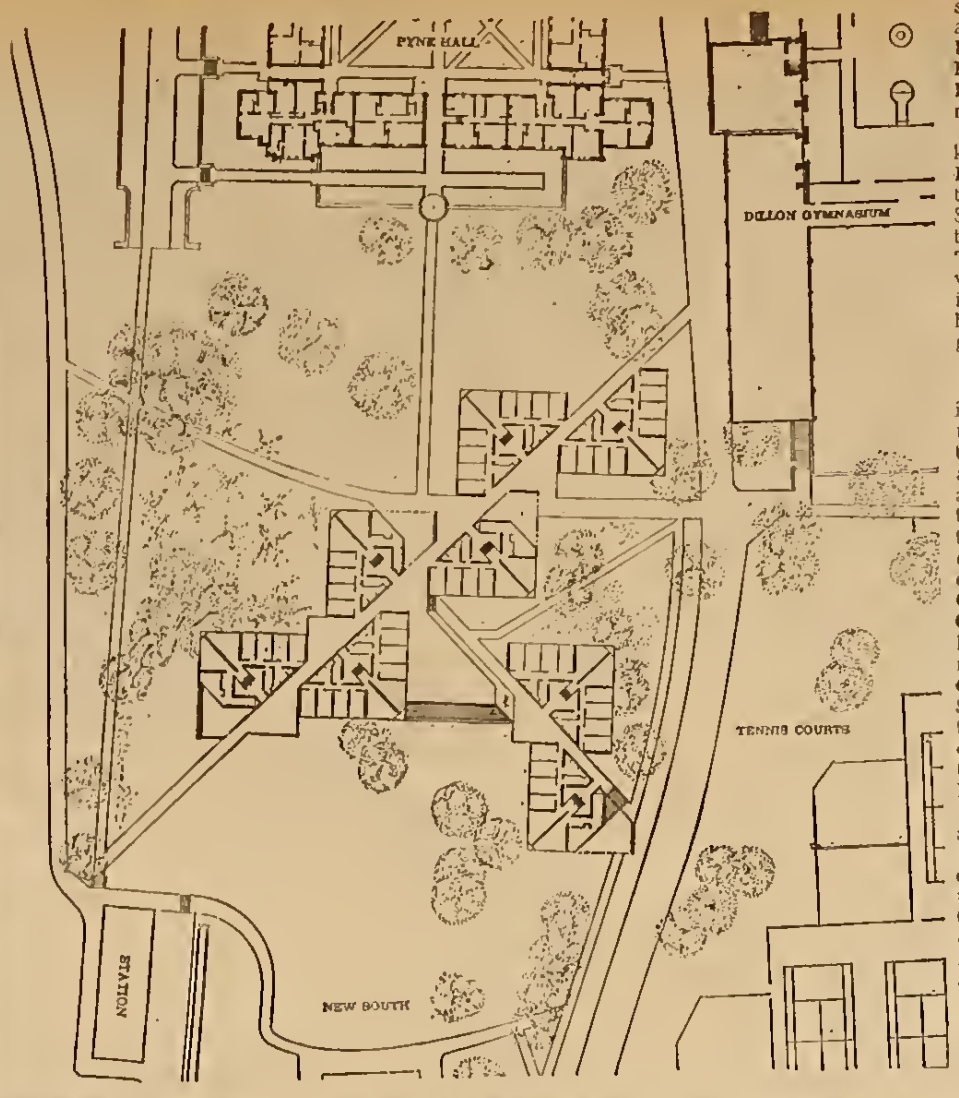
Princeton Plans New 8-Unit Dormitory Group



DORMITORY LOCATION: Architects' site plan showing location of the new dormitory-apartment complex — to be known as Laura Spelman Rockefeller Halls — planned for the southwest corner of the Princeton University campus.

Preliminary plans for a new dormitory group at Princeton University — with four-person student apartments as the basic living unit - have been approved by the Grounds and Buildings Committee of the Board of Trustees, President Robert F. Goheen has announced.

The dormitory group will be known as the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Halls, honoring the grandmother of Laurance S. Rockefeller, a 1932 Princeton graduate and Charter Trustee of the University, whose gift of $4 million made it possible for Princeton to launch its coeducational program in the fall of 1969.

Mrs. Rockefeller, who died in 1915 at age 75, worked for many years to improve educational opportunities for women and for blacks. At an early age she expressed her keen interest in women's opportunities and self-reliance when she entitled her valedictory address "I Can Paddle My Own Canoe" upon graduation from Central High School in Cleveland, Ohio. Before her marriage she was a teacher at Cleveland's Hudson Street School, and she continued teaching Sunday School and organizing music classes after her marriage to John D. Rockefeller, Sr., in 1864.

Mrs. Rockefeller came from a staunch Abolitionist family, and she and her husband played a key philanthropic role in the establishment of Spelman College in Atlanta, Ga., founded in 1881 as the first college for black women in the United States. Much of her other philanthropic work was also in behalf of education for women and blacks.

The Rockefeller Halls, designed by I.M. Pei and Partners, are to be located in the southwest corner of the campus, between Pyne Hall and

New South Administration building and adjacent to the Penn Central Railroad station. The buildings – four stories high and accommodating approximately 28 students each – are to be arranged along a diagonal axis leading from the campus toward the Princeton Inn College. They are to be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the 1973-74 academic year.

The preliminary plans provide for the construction of eight buildings, accommodating a total of 224 men and women students. The need for the new buildings to accommodate an expanded student body resulted from Princeton's 1969 decision to become coeducational.

The University plans to seek bids both for an initial phase of construction, involving six buildings and housing 168 students, as well as for the complete eight-building complex. Costs of the six-building group are estimated at $2,500,000; for the series of eight buildings the estimated cost is approximately $3,350,000.

By the use of small buildings the design meets a number of important physical concerns, according to John P. Moran, General Manager of Planning, Plant and Properties for the University. "The majority of the trees on the site will be saved," he pointed out, "and existing pedestrian routes are respected and allowed to continue uninterrupted. Vistas are preserved and pleasant spaces are formed between the new buildings and the neighboring buildings, Pyne Hall and New South."

Mr. Moran noted that in addition, "the design is responsive to the social concerns of students, which were carefully elicited last year." The basic living unit will be a four-person apartment with single bedrooms, kitchen, and bath. Single rooms are scarce now on campus. In addition, several apartments for married undergraduates, provided both are Princeton students, will be included in the new dormitory.

Apartment living is not now available to undergraduates on the Princeton campus, and it is expected that the new buildings will help to meet the needs of a growing number of students, especially upperclassmen and women, who do not wish to associate with more formal dining arrangements. The 28-student groupings of apartments will encourage interaction between the residents and avoid the feeling of mass dormitory living. The focal point of each building will be a spacious skylit stairwell.

While the design minimizes the impact on existing trees, the University, by use of a special landscape fund, will move several pine trees to preserve them, and will replace other trees removed. "This unprecedented approach made possible by the special landscape fund will enhance an already beautiful setting," Mr. Moran noted.

COME SING WITH US

Barbershop Auditions Friday. Open-house-auditions for prospective barbershop quartet and chorus singers will be held by the Princeton Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America on Friday.

Auditions will begin in the Center Barber Shop at 8:30 p.m. following a program by the chorus in the mall of the Princeton Shopping Center. The Princeton chapter has more than 45 members who reside in the Mercer County area. President John Yates invites "any and all guys who just love to sing for fun" to show up at the Shopping Center Friday.

The open-house-audition will be the first of several such events to be held by the Chapter in a search for new recruits. Tony Bescos, proprietor of the Center Barber Shop has offered his premises for the first auditions.

Chairman David Thompson emphasized that "reading music is not a requirement, and no prior knowledge of barber shop harmony singing is needed." Prospective members will be encouraged to participate with the chorus in a four-part harmony demonstration and learn first hand the pleasure of singing the familiar old barber shop melodies. Auditions will be conducted privately to determine one's proper voice range.

The Princeton Chapter's chorus and two quartets often entertain at hospitals and before civic organizations. An annual show is held in April and the chapter participates in formal competition with other state and district barber shop choruses.

Debut '72 Makes Its Bow Here

A WHOLE NEW WAY OF LIVING — DEBUT '72 — WITH TOTAL-LOOK HOME FASHIONS T.M.

It is a lot easier to visualize how a piece of furniture will look in your home if you see it displayed in an actual room setting.

That is one of the main objectives behind Debut '72, the first nation-wide home fashions event. The first of five planned annual consumer events, Debut '72 will take place from September 26 through October 9 in 50 cities. Participating retailers in Princeton are Viking Furniture, Nassau Interiors and The Rug Mart & Ivy Manor.

The event is being sponsored by the Home Furnishings Council of New York, a coordinating agency for the entire home furnishings industry. There are some 250 participating manufacturers, representing more than 80% of the furniture industry.

Every participating retailer will create room setcurrent life styles. Ivy Manor in the Shopping Center is in the process of breaking up its entire showroom into attractive "room settings." Viking devotes part of its showroom to room settings.

A number of these will also be featured in magazines and newspapers. A homemaker can see a room in a photograph, go to a Princeton store, touch it, sit in it and "experience it."

APPRECIATIVE INTEREST: A reception Saturday evening drew many Princetonians to the show currently on view at Gallery 100 which exhibits the oil paintings of Peter Cook and the bird sculpture of Charles Chase.

ART In Princeton

ART AT GALLERY 100

Oils, Bird Sculpture on View. Memories of summer and the delights of autumn come alive for the viewer of the two-star show now on display at Gallery 100.

The Gallery has opened its fall season with a strong duo of complementing talent. Peter Cook, well-known Kingston artist, is showing recent oils in conjunction with a selection of the outstanding wood-carvings of his Maine summer neighbor, Charles Chase.

Bird lovers as well as art collectors will be entranced by the bird compositions which Mr. Chase has produced from large blocks of fine wood. Black walnut, ash, rosewood are sectioned by chain saw and then delicately finished by hammer and chisel, resulting in unusual wood sculpture of great strength and beauty. Ruffed grouse, loons, partridge, woodcock, black duck, eider duck are all arranged in a fine exhibit dominated by a stunning eagle.

Some of Mr. Cook's oils reflect the Maine area near Wiscasset. A view of Montsweag Lake with purple heron is especially beautiful and full of mood.

Selected portraits, Princeton women among them, attest once agian to Mr. Cook's talent in portraiture.

Of special interest and attraction are a series of drawings and related oil sketches done last spring in Italy. These warm paintings effectively convey the beauty of the Italian lake country, rounting out a show of fine unity.

DURER WORKS ON VIEW

At University Museum. "Albrecht Durer: The Early Graphic Works," a small, choice collection of 65 prints by Durer and some of his contemporaries, is presently on exhibit at The Art Museum of Princeton University. The prints, borrowed chiefly from the Rosenwald Collection of the National Gallery of Art, were chosen by Prof. Charles I. Minott of the University of Pennsylvania.

The Princeton exhibition, like the larger Durer exhibitions in Nuremberg and Washington, D. C., commemorates the 500th anniversary of Durer's birth. In his choice of representative prints, Prof. Minott has focused on a particularly productive period in the development of the young durer, the period before Durer's second Italian trip in 1505.

Being shown at the same time as the main Durer exhibition which is in the museum's lower gallery, is a supplementary exhibition in the Prints and Drawings Gallery of other prints by Durer and portraits of the artist by other printmakers.

A catalogue is on sale at the museum for $2. The exhibition will last until October 24. The Art Museum is open free to the public Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4 and Sundays from 2 to 4.

University Lowers Anticipated Deficit for '70-'71 by $1 Million

Princeton University has announced that a rise in income and the curbing of expenditures had reduced its projected budget deficit for 1970-71 by $1 million.

The income growth and the savings cut an expected $2.5 million deficit to $1,509,000 in an operating budget of $78,884,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971. This is still the largest deficit in the University's history.

Speaking at the first faculty meeting of Princeton's 226th year, President Robert F. Goheen said:

"The response of alumni and friends in a time of urgent need and the careful husbanding of University funds in this difficult period have been heartening. Our determination to maintain the academic quality of the University while doing fewer things made this possible, for it won campus support for selective budget cuts and encouraged the increase in financial support to see us through.

"Even if we begin to see a little light, we are a long way from the end of this tunnel of financial trouble. As in the general case of high education, Princeton will require a significant growth in resources. This is because the vitality of such an institution requires it to be on the frontier as knowledge expands all the time. The capacity to understand and teach what is now known is simply not enough for what we will learn tomorrow."

A Swing of $1.7 Million. There were the usual fluctuations in both directions (a very small percentage of the overall budget) between the estimates and the final income and expense figures. What is most significant, however, is that whereas the final deficit for the preceding year (1969-70) was almost $700,000 higher than the forecast made six months before the end of the year, the final deficit for 1970-71 was about $1 million lower than the mid-year forecast.

The two most important factors in the 1970-71 improvement were: (1) the upsurge in Annual Giving; and (2) the early attainment of some of the savings which had been projected for 1971-72 and beyond.

Because of uncertain economic conditions, the University had not counted upon a large increase in Annual Giving. However, Princeton alumni and other supporters contributed $3,441,000, only slightly below the highest mark on record, and $341,000 above the advance estimate.

The strong showing of Annual Giving was especially encouraging because it was a part of an extremely successful year for giving of all kinds. Total gifts and grants from private sources rose to $22.1 million for 1970-71, a 54-percent gain over the previous year. This figure includes funds for the University's $125 million development program and other purposes, which will have a beneficial effect on future budgets, as well as the Annual Giving funds.

The second major cause of the improved budgeting result, the early attainment of economies in the operating budgets of academic departments and programs, and especially in administrative and central services, amounted to $607,000 more than the forecast of $550,000 which had been figured into the budget. These savings, achieved ahead of schedule, reflect the cooperation of faculty and staff, in meeting the fiscal problems of the University.

The University listed among the principal factors increasing the deficit greater attrition than expected among undergraduates and a tuition loss exceeding scholarship program savings, $174,000; higher costs than estimated for employee benefit programs, $239,000; lower gate receipts from athletic contests, primarily in football, $55,000.

Among factors reducing the deficit were the increase in Annual Giving, $269,000; higher indirect cost reimbursements on government-sponsored research projects which more than offset a "shortfall" on non-government projects by $274,000; savings achieved in various administrative departments and in athletics, $607,000; and a lower deficit for dormitories and food services than estimated, $115,000.

NEW SEASON PLANNED

By Community Orchestra. Founded in 1964 by a small group of amateur musicians from Princeton, the Princeton Community Orchestra now has a membership of more than 60 instrumentalists drawn from Princeton and the surrounding area.

Under the leadership of Joseph Kovacs, well-known concert violinist and member of the faculties of Westminster Choir College, Douglas College and Princeton Day School, the orchestra fills a unique role in the musical life of the community. The Community Orchestra is a "reading" orchestra that provides the opportunity for its members to participate in a symphonic ensemble and to become acquainted with much of the symphonic literature without the demands for the technical perfection required for concert performances. While the Princeton Community Orchestra has on several past occasions performed at the invitation of the Music Club of Princeton, it does not present formal concerts as such.

Meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month from October through May at 8 p.m. in the rehersal room of Princeton High School. Interested instrumentalists are invited to come to the first meeting on October 7. There are openings in all string categories and in the brass (horn and trombone) section. Wind players willl be considered as alternates or substitutes.

The membership comprises men and women drawn from all walks of life including many housewives, businessmen, scientists, educators, technicians and artists. For further information, contact Mr. Kovacs (921-8732), conductor, J. Rogers Woolston (921-2478), secretary, or Peter G. Cook (924-4835), treasurer.

BALLET SOCIETY EXPANDS

Class Schedule is Larger. The Princeton Ballet Society's School of Ballet, which will begin regular classes this Thursday has expanded its schedule for the 1971-72 season to include more than 50 offerings in classical ballet, modern dance, jazz, women's exercise ballet and boys' and young men's gymnastics.

According to Audree Estey, founder and director of the Ballet Society, the increase in classes was necessitated to accommodate the growing number of students of ballet ranging in age and skill from kindergarten beginner to adult advanced, as well as to develop the growing interest in modern dance and jazz dance.

Joyce Trisler, internationally recognized modern dancer, choreographer and master teacher, will return as guest teacher of the first eight-week series of Friday evening modern dance sessions for beginners and advanced high school and young adults. Miss Trisler, who conducted a nightly successful modern dance course at the Ballet Society last spring, choreographed a number for the Alvin Ailey Company which performed in Princeton last year.

Over a Third of State's Voters Unregistered

More than one third of the eligible voters in New Jersey will not be able to vote this fall unless they register before the deadline this Thursday, September 23.

This is the prediction of the Center for the Study of New Jersey Politics of Rutgers University's Eagleton Institute of Politics. The center's estimates are based on the 1970 preliminary reports of the U.S. Census Bureau and the registration data from the 1970 general election.

"These figures are necessarily only estimates," according to Dr. John C. Blydenburgh, director of the center. "They do not take into account shifts in our highly mobile population nor the results of recent registration drives, particularly those among the 18-20 year-old group which has just won the right to vote.

"Nevertheless, they give some guidelines to party leaders anxious to make elections more representative of the will of the majority."

1.3¼ Million Unregistered. The center's report shows that more than 1¾ million (1,768,943) were not registered last year. This includes an estimated 1,432,302 who were over 20 years of age in 1970 and 336,641 in the 18-20 age group who will be eligible for this year's election.

The figure amounts to 37.4 per cent of the estimated 4,724,491 persons who have the right to vote in New Jersey November 2.

The report includes tables showing five estimated figures for each of New Jersey's 567 municipalities:

— Total population over 20 years of age.

— Total population 18-20 years of age.

— Population over 20 years of age not registered for 1970 general election.

— Total eligible voters not registered for 1970 general election.

— Percentage of eligible voters not registered for 1970 general election.

Burlington County holds the dubious distinction of ranking lowest, with an estimated 46.3 percent of eligibles not registered. Bergen ranks at the top with 28.4 percent; Mercer stands at 34.4 percent.

With reference to Burlington, the report points out that "the large population of military personnel residing in Burlington County (site of Fort Dix and McGuire AFB) inflates the unregistered population throughout the county in varying degrees."

Trailing Burlington are Monmouth, which also has large military installations and Cape May, with 44.0 and 41.0 unregistered eligibles respectively.

Among municipalities, the divergencies are extraordinary, ranging from the 60s to high 80s in communities bordering military installations, to zero for tiny Teterboro in Bergen County, with 100 percent of its estimated persons over 20 registered and none estimated in the 18-20 brack-ets. Pine Valley, in Camden County, shows 21 out of 21 registered, with no 18-20 year-olds.

The report was prepared by Sara R. McLean, a graduate assistant to Dr. Blydenburgh at the Eagleton Institute. Copies may be obtained by addressing Mrs. McLean at the Eagleton Institute, Rutgers University, New Brunswick 08903. A nominal charge may be made for the cost of reproduction.

Why 55% Not Registered.

Princeton Borough's startlingly high percentage of eligible voters not registered — 55.2% — is due to the student population.

Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney pointed out this week that students are counted by census-takers in tallying the number of people who live in the Borough. The population of the Borough is 12,311, which includes all students.

If eligibility is defined only by age, then all students 21 and over, have in the past been eligible to vote. They haven't been registered Borough voters, however, unless they were married graduate students. The number of registered Borough voters, as of this June is 4,347.

Several classes have been added to the modern daoce offerings to tailor the program to various skill and age levels, including a new class for younger students, sixth through eighth grades, for the first time this year. A special jazz class for ages 12 to 14 has also been added this year.

A young boys' ballet class is being organized for ages 6 to 9, based on the Royal Academy of Dance syllabus. Scholarships are being offered for this class.

Many Teachers Return. Returning again this year to the Ballet Society faculty, which is headed by Mrs. Estey, are Lila Brunner, who also serves as ballet mistress for the Princeton Regional Ballet Company, maintained by the Society; Joan Lucas, who in addition to teaching ballet to children and youth also offers the popular morning women's ballet exercise classes; Jerry Ross, who is in charge of jazz dance classes; Ruth Langridge, who heads the modern dance department and is in charge of the newly-formed modern dance division of the Regional Company; and Larry Ivan, who conducts the boys' and young men's gymnastics classes.

Joining the faculty this year is Avril Johns, a native of Brighton, England, who studied ballet at the Royal Academy of Dance and the British Ballet Organization and has danced with the Imperial Ballet Company, the Continental Ballet Company, The Cheltenham Opera Company and the Drury Lane Opera Company. For the past five years she has been a dance teacher and chorcographer at Butler University.

New students interested in enrolling may call the Ballet Society studio at 262 Alexander Street (921-7758) between 10 and noon, or 2 and 5.

SEMINAR IS PLANNED

On Home Security. How to protect your home from burglars will be the subject of a "Home Security" seminar to be held next Thursday evening, September 23, at 8 in the Community Room of the Trenton Times, 500 Perry Street. There is no charge.

Among the panelists are Township Chief Frederick M. Porter and Robert Blazer of Princeton Service Co. Mr. Blazer is an authority on electronic and electronical protection systems.

Literature will be distributed and there will be exhibits and motion pictures. There is ample parking in the lot directly behind the newspaper building.

Y SETS BUS ROUTES

To Help Youth Program. The YMCA will attempt to meet the increasing demands of the communities surrounding Princeton by creating three bus routes to accommodate the youth program after school and Saturday morning starting September 28.

The West Windsor routes will run for the 10-week session every Tuesday. Classes of gym instruction, swim instruction, diving and trampoline will be offered.

The Thursday afternoon route will include the Kingston and Kendall Park area leaving from the Kendall Park area leaving from the Kendall Park Shopping Center. A program will be offered including swim instruction and gym instruction.

Saturday morning busing will be offered to Montgomery, Hopewell and Rocky Hill areas. Firs through sixth grades will be offered a combined gym instruction and swim instruction program.

There will be one reduced fee for those boys who wish to participate in swim and gym instruction and want bus transportation. Registration for these programs to include busing will run until September 24 - 9 to 9.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

For New First Aid Squad. Residents of West Windsor Township are invited to be founding members of a first aid and rescue squad to serve the community.

The Princeton Junction Volunteer Fire Company has been studying the need for an ambulance squad in addition to its regular fire service. Robert Redmond is chairman of the study committee.

"While we have long enjoyed the fine services of the neighboring towns," Mr. Redmond said last week, "the time has come for the presence of an ambulance in the township itself, along with the greater involvement of the local citizens in the emergency needs of the community."

The fire company has been studying financial and organizational requirements, but its major hurdle is manpower. Twenty-two new members, male and female, with interest in first aid are ungently sought. Training will be given.

Inquiries are directed to Joseph Zuccarello, Princeton Junction fire chief, at 452-8494, or Robert Redmond, 799-0391. Registration is at the firehouse, Alexander Road and Scott Avenue, on Saturday mornings and Monday evenings.

RUMMAGE SALE PLANNED

SO-SO YEAR FOR TIGERS: If freshmen Ellen Kahn (left) and Judy Steinberg are impressed about Princeton University, they aren't with the prospects of the Tiger football team. Ellen gives them five wins, Judy four in nine games. Time was when not a few automatically picked the Tigers to win them all in response to this annual question. This year, only one picks them to win

Question Of The Week

Question: How many games do you think the Princeton University football team will win this year?

Where asked: Around town.

Ellen Kahn, 1937 Hall, Princeton University freshman. We'll lose to Dartmouth and Cornell. The others I'm not too sure about. We should beat Brown; I'm pretty sure of that—and Rutgers, Columbia and possibly Penn. I think they'll win about five. I heard they were pretty good this year.

Judy Steinberg, 1937 Hall, University freshman: Win four, lose five. I think we'll lose to Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Cornell and maybe Penn.

Dennis Clark, Fairless Hills, Princeton University carpenter: They lost a key player on defense—that may hurt them. But from what I've heard, they're pretty good. They may get beat by Dartmouth but I think they'll win them all.

Larry Migliaccio, Trenton, clerk, Varsity Sport Shop: I feel they'll be a little better than .500. The way I look at it, Harvard is the key game. A lot will depend on how well they are physically by then. If they're fit and they beat Harvard, I think they'll end up 6-3. If they lose, it will probably be 5-4. From what I read in the papers, Jake is pretty optimistic. He has a lot of impressive sophomores but while sophomores can be impressive in spring practice they still don't have tha actual game experience. They'll probably lose to Cornell, Yale and Dartmouth.

Charles Simone, Princeton-Kingston Road, treasurer, Hulit's Shoes: They'll beat Rutgers, Colgate, Penn and Brown and lose the rest. Against Rhode Island they looked lousy. It was worse than last year. I thought it was a bunch of freshmen playing.

Tom Corcoran, 35 Linden Lane, postal carrier: They'll win five. They'll lose to Dartmouth, Yale, Harvard and Penn. Put a star after Yale because Yale is really going to wipe them out. What's wrong with the team? No quarterback. I don't think Plummer will come around.

Frank X. Critchlow, Harbourton Road, vocational instructor: They'll win five. I think they'll lose to Colgate, Cornell, Yale, and Rutgers in the opener. Rutgers is the first game of the season; it's a little touchy for Princeton—Rutgers gets in longer practice and they're usually up for the game. As for Princeton—two good backs does not an offense make.

Bob Noto, Dodge Osborne Hall, Princeton University sophomore: I feel they'll win six, lose three. I think they'll lose to Harvard, Yale and either be upset by Columbia or be beaten regularly by Dartmouth.

Jeff Wolcowitz, Dodge Osborne Hall, university sophomore: I'll say they'll be 5-4, but I'm not sure who will beat them. Yale and Dartmouth for sure.

Joseph Daly, 64 Pine Street, retired: It's hard to say—they just lost three of their best men in the last couple of weeks. I'll give them five games: Rutgers, Columbia, Cornell, Colgate, and Brown. I think Penn will beat them—they're not a good team—and they almost always lose to Yale and Dortmouth.

Ronnie Coleman, Hightstown, air-conditioner installer for William C. Pullen Co.: They'll lose to Dartmouth—that's definite—and probably to Yale. They should take the rest. I'll give them seven of nine.

John Goodhallet, Trenton, air conditioner installer: Princeton was supposed to be strong but they just lost their big defensive tackle so it's hard to say. I'll say 4-5. I think they'll beat Rutgers, Columbia, Colgate and Penn.

Charles Perpetoa, Lawrence Township, maintenance department, Princeton Hospital: Six, but I wouldn't want to venture which. They have two real fine running backs in Bjorklund and Blake; if they stay healthy, they may do alright. I'm sure he is a good athlete but Plummer just didn't seem to have it when the chips were down. Maybe it had something to do with the club. I'll say two of their losses will be to Dartmouth the line but he didn't move and Penn.

Jack Roberts, assistant director, Princeton Recreation Department: Five and four. They'll lose to Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth and Cornell. That's an away game; that's tough. All they have to do is hand the ball to Marinaro. I think the whole thing hangs on the offense — whether Plummer can learn to throw the ball.

Jake Bartolino, Trenton, employe of Princeton Music Center and sports official: I'll say 6-3, although it could possibly be 7-2. Rutgers will be a tough one. With the injuries they have, they don't have enough time, whereas Rutgers has spring training. I say Rutgers will be tough only because of opening day; if it were later in the schedule, I think Princeton would beat them. I think Cornell with Marinaro will take them. Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth are always touch and go. I think they'll hold their own against Harvard and Dartmouth. Yale will be tough but Princeton won't be any pushover. I'll say they'll lose to Rutgers, Cornell and Yale, and it's quite possible they'll lose only two.

Jimmy Jones, 240 John Street, runs own sanitation service: Win six, lose three. Yale is always tough, and they'll lose to Penn and Columbia which is supposed to have a good team this year. They'll beat Dartmouth, though.

Princeton Football Team Faces Uncertain Future as Season Begins

Its offense a question mark until it proves itself in the air and its defense weakened by the loss of one of the finest linemen it has had in years, Princeton's football team will open its 1971 season Saturday on a note of major uncertainty.

The traditional first-game opponent, Rutgers, a 13-7 victim of Lafayette last weekend, will provide the opposition with the kickoff set for 2 p.m. A combination of factors ranging from bearish forecasts of each team's future to the die-hard economic recession-will keep attendance around 20,000--a far cry from the crowds of 35,000 and more which have watched this series on other Saturdays during the past 15 years.

SPORTS in Princeton

NONE BETTER IN THE NATION: So says Jake McCandless of his running backs, Doug Blake (left) and Hank Bjorklund, who will begin their final year at Princeton in Saturday's opener with Rutgers. A fine blocker, Blake averaged 4.9 yards per carry last fall, while Bjorklund became the first Tiger ball carrier to top 1,000 yards in a single season and can pass Dick Kazmaier's career record of 1,950 before October ends.

While the Tigers' running attack is expected to be dangerous again as the standout pair of Hank Bjorklund and Doug Blake begin their final year, there is lingering belief that the Princeton passing game does not have the potential to improve markedly over last year's frequently doleful exhibitions. Unless quarterback Rod Plummer can cut down drastically on the time he takes to sort out his receivers; throw the short pass with greater accuracy; and eliminate much of the ability the other teams had to intercept his aerials, even the fine art of ball carrying that Blake and Bjorklund can demonstrate will be bottled up by closely-packed defenses.

Hopes had been that while the offense worked to achieve the overall balance that was lacking last year, a strong defensive unit could provide the necessary time. Ten days, ago, however, junior Carl Barisich, a 250-lb. tackle whom Jake McCandless felt could become the best in Princeton history at this position, was operated on for torn knee ligaments and will not play this year. Only the loss of Bjorklund could have been a greater blow to Princeton's hopes for regaining a berth among the top echelons in the Ivy League.

Rutgers Rebuilding. The Class of 1972 contributed so little to Rutgers football that by now there are only eight seniors on the Scarlet squad, and only four of them are starters. Coach John Bateman's other regulars consist of 11 juniors and seven sophomores.

With inexperience a prime problem, mistakes may be numerous, as they were in the loss to Lafayette -the Knights' first in five years. They moved the ball well, but dropped passes and missed assignments were costly inside the 15-yard line, while defensive lapses helped the Leopards to a pair of early TDs which they made stand up.

Either junior Leo Gasienica or sophomore Gary Smolyn will quarterback the Scarlet. Between them, they had a none-too-impressive 10-for-26 performance last weekend, but inept receivers played a part in these figures.

The top ball carrier is a 220 lb. fullback, Bill Donaldson, who gained over 100 yards against Lafayette. Bruce Miler and Larry Robertson, the latter an option passer, round out the backfield. Scarlet linebackers are veterans but much of the rest of this unit is new, and it is on the relative difference in defensive ability that the outcome of the Palmer Stadium opener is expected to hinge.

Tiger Receivers Inexperienced. Biggest replacement problem Princeton has on offense is the fact that last year's veterans, ends Pete Hauck and Chris Montgomery and flanker Brian McCullough, have all graduated. Replacing them will be Larry Chollet and John Solie, a pair of varsity reserves with virtually no experience, and a sophomore who will be the only member of his class to break into the opening-day lineup.

The newcomer is 185-lb. Bill Skinner, whose consistent performance as a wide receiver has been one of the few bright spots of the pre-season training period. His pass-catching potential should not only be an asset to Plummer but has already strengthened the line by allowing the conversion of the speedy Chollet from flanker to split end. Chollet had been ticketed to start at flanker until Skinner developed so rapidly.

The Tigers' reserve backfield will consist of sophomore Kerry Brown, a promising receiver, at flanker; junior Tim Testerman at quarterback, sophomore Romerio Perkins at fullback and sophomore Walt Snickenberger at halfback. Testerman is being hard pressed for the backup job at quarterback by sophomore Jim Flynn.

Brown, Perkins and Snickenberger all have as high a degree of potential as could be hoped for in a reserve backfield unit. Like the three starters, however, they will need a quarterback who can pass to make them go.

The line is well set from tackle to tackle, with starting lettermen there and at guard and a holdover varsity reserve at center. Principal replacements who will see action are on the right side of the line: sophomore guard Bill Cronin, a 235 pounder who has shown well; junior Jeff Bartosiewicz, a highly capable tackle who sat out last year with a leg injury; and junior Mike Hinecwicz, converted from a defensive back to round out the depth at tight end.

Strength is apparent at virtually every position on the defensive unit, but there is no denying that it will greatly miss Barisich all fall. The two fine ends, Steve Sikora and Norm Townsend, have both been playing tackle in practice to familiarize themselves with the position, and personnel switches to compensate for the loss of Barisich may become necessary as the season progresses.

Nine Lettermen to Start. There are only two non-lettermen on the starting defensive unit — junior Mike Kincaid the right linebacker, and senior Bob Schuster, one of the halfbacks. Eight members of this platoon are seniors.

After this group of 11, however, both experience and very possibly potential fall off sharply(as the scrimmage against Rhode Island and intrasquad sessions have shown. As long as the going is close against Rutgers, it is highly unlikely that McCandless will substitute on a platoon basis for his starters on defense.

Hurt by injuries and unsure of its ability to make a strong run for the Ivy title after having lost three in a row last November, Princeton is fortunate that it will have a rebuilding Rutgers eleven as its opening opponent. Game-long pressure from the inexperienced Scarlet is unlikely, and some opportunity to experiment with new personnel should accrue to the Tigers.

Thereafter, however, the opening Ivy games against Columbia and Cornell — both on the road — will provide tougher back - to - back opposition from these two teams than the Tigers have ever experienced. The time to be ready is just about at hand.

PHS ALUMNUS A KICKER

Leads Rutgers in Scoring. A Princeton resident who was Rutgers' leading scorer in 1970 with 33 points on four field goals and 21 extra points, is thinking seriously of seeking a patent on a football holding device he, his father and a friend have developed. He is PHS alumnus John Pesce, who lives at 75 Harris Road.

The simply-made device makes place-kicking practice possible without the assistance of a holder. According to Pesce, that's the entire idea. "Sometimes it's difficult to find a willing holder," he says, "especially at home during the summer or even at practice when everyone seems to be working at something else."

John Pesce

An admirer of pro-kicker Charlie Gogolak, Pesce saw a crude version of the device being used by a Princeton kicker last season. But that one endangered the ankle during the kick. So he conceived the idea of a spring attachment that would automatically release the bar holding the ball and allow it to fall aside without contact with the ankle or foot.

Nearly perfected, the instrument simply sticks in the ground and holds the ball in place and secure. At last notice, Pesce, a Business Administration student, by the way, was working on a way to retrieve his booming kicks without employing help.

Plenty of Practice. A soccer-style booter, the young athlete is a perfectionist. He is on the practice field before the others and remains late. And although he doesn't engage in the rough going, he stays interested in the proceedings, waiting to be called upon and constantly thinking about "his game."

"I have to keep thinking about situations and be ready when I'm called for," says the 5-9, 165-pound junior. Admitting to the pressures of waiting in game situations, Pesce explains, "there are only a few times that I get to play, so I try never to sit down and constantly worry about wind conditions and positions on the field." Along the sideline, he is much like the proverbial cat on a tin roof.

In Rutgers' opening game last season, however, he was more off the roof than on. When the game was over, Pesce had tallied 11 points on field goals of 30 and 35 yards and five PATs. It was his first varsity collegiate game.

The near-two touchdown figure was a new realization for him. "Until then, I wasn't aware of how important this part of the game could be," he admitted. Briefly, he was nationally ranked in scoring by

QUICK LOOK AT RUTGERS

OFFENSE: One standout ball carrier in 220-lb. fullback Bill Donaldson but quarterbacks are inexperienced and line has largely been rebuilt.

DEFENSE: Strength lies in linebackers, but, like the offensive unit, this platoon has virtually no players with more than a year of varsity experience.

CHIEF ASSET: Eagerness to beat Princeton will assure visitors of top effort. Spring practice and opening game last week help offset squad's unusual youth.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Extreme lack of lettermen (only 13) and absence of topflight material create a major rebuilding program.

TYPE OF OFFENSE: Multiple T.

Three Rules Changes Made

Three basic rules changes have been adopted for the 1971 intercollegiate football season.

Only one will affect the ultimate development of a play: a kick from scrimmage crossing the goal line untouched is dead the moment it goes into the end zone and the ball will be put in play on the receiving team's 20 yard line. Heretofore, if a ball bounced back out of the end zone and came to rest on the one-yard line, play began there.

A second change reduces the number of timeouts allotted each team per half from four to three. the third change is also designed to speed up action: this year, following a penalty call, the clock will start as soon as the ball is ready for play. In the past, time remained out until the ball was snapped.

kickers.

Pesce has been kicking since grade school and adopted the soccer style as a PHS freshman after watching Gogolak. As a scholastic specialist, he also played "a little flanker," a job he shared with Chris Gardner, now an Indiana University standout.

Last spring, Pesce gave evidence that he had not lost his artistry over the winter by calmly booting 40 and 29-yard three pointers in the spring game. Those, plus two PATs provided the margin of victory as his team won, 20-18.

TOUGH ONE SATURDAY

..For Hun Eleven. "It's going to be difficult, but we'll give it a wing.'

Hun coach Dave Leete isn't talking about preserving Hun's unbeaten string, which now stands at 33. He is concerned — and rightfully so — about the opener Saturday. Hun will travel to Livingston for a 2 p.m. contest with Newark Academy.

Last year, when Hun flatten- everyone in sight, its smallest margin of victory (20-8) came in the opener against Newark Academy. It was a good passing team then and figures to be even better this fall because its quarterback returns. Also back for Newark, says Leete, are both halfbacks.

The upstate team lost its two starting guards and both ends but overall "they are a young team," commented Leete. "It will be a very tough opener."

Newark also has one game under its belt. It opened in fine fashion last week by trouncing Wardlaw, 30-6.

Starters Named. Hun will counter with a starting lineup that has Dave Hock at center, Dennis Skrajewski and Bill Mills at guard. George Harper and Kevin Apple at tackle and Scott Johnson and Bob Bacso at end.

In the backfield, Alan Chalifoux will return as quarterback, and Pete Jones and Greg Rafalski will be the running backs. Fullback remains a question mark because of injuries.

The probable starter, Joe Haydu, split a tendon in his finger in the scrimmage Saturday with Princeton High School and will be lost for six weeks. Chuck Sista, number one on the chart at the start of the season, has been sidelined with mononucleosis. Whether he can come back by Saturday is not known.

In addition, Jones missed the PHS scrimmage with a sprained ankle and may not be 100 percent for the opener. "We missed his running and catching," said Leete earlier as he commented about the scrimmage with PHS. "We didn't catch very many."

Rafalski was backup to Jack Petrone last year. And while he has neither Petrone's speed or shiftiness, "he runs people down," says Leete. Rafalski is 175.

Hun Behind Schedule. Leete has had his share of pre-season problems. In addition to injuries to key players like Jones and Haydu, the squad was hit by a "bug" that sidelined as many as 20 at one time. A scrimmage had to be scrubbed and Leete lost

AMERICAN MOTORS INTRODUCES THE GUARANTEED CAR.

If anything goes wrong with one of our 72's and it's our fault, we'll fix it free. Anything.

AMERICAN MOTORS 1972 BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.

For years, car buyers in this country have been saying that instead of shiny new chrome every year, what they really want is a good car they can count on.

That's why American Motors and its dealers put together their 1972 Buyer Protection Plan.

Here's how it works:

A STRONG GUARANTEE IN PLAIN ENGLISH.

When you buy a new 1972 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship.

This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada and that guaranteed repairs or replacements be made by an American Motors dealer.

This guarantee gives you 12-month or 12,000-mile coverage on a lot of things most car warranties don't. It covers air conditioning, battery, radio, wiper blades, front end alignment, light bulbs—literally everything we put on the car except tires.

In other words, if something we did goes wrong with one of our '72's, you won't have to pay for the parts or the labor. We will.

A MORE THOROUGHLY-CHECKED CAR. FROM THE FACTORY AND THE DEALER.

Naturally, we wouldn't be backing our cars like this if we weren't more sure of them than we've ever been before. For 1972, we've put in more quality control steps, more tests and more people to see that every car leaving our factory is as perfect as man and machine can make it.

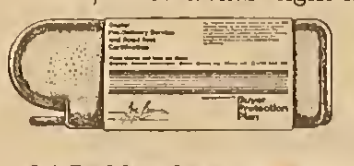
At the dealer's, it's checked over again.

Every car (not one of 50, one of 5, every one) is road-tested for starting, handling, braking and overall performance. When the serviceman completes the test, he signs his report and slides it over the sun visor, where you can see it.

And, when a man signs his name to something, you can be sure he's done his job. And done it right.



A LOANER CAR WHEN YOU NEED IT. FREE.

Not only do we offer you a strong guarantee, we've set up a system to back it up without inconveniencing you.

If you have to leave your '72 overnight for guarantee repairs, over 2,000 dealers will loan you one of their cars. A nice, clean, well-equipped car in good condition. Free.

A DIRECT LINE TO DETROIT. TOLL-FREE.

We're making some big promises, and we fully intend to keep them. But, just in case you have a problem, we have a way of handling it. When you buy a '72, you get the name and toll-free number of a person in Detroit.

If you call, we promise you you'll get results. And fast.

These aren't just fancy words.

We mean it.

Nobody in the business does as much for you after you buy a car, and it takes a lot of time, men and money to do all these things.

But we think it's worth it.

Since we're giving American car-buyers exactly what they say they want, we should sell more cars than we've ever sold before.

STARTING TODAY, THESE AMERICAN MOTORS DEALERS WILL DO MORE FOR YOU AFTER YOU BUY A CAR THAN ANY OTHER DEALER IN TOWN.

the equivalent of five practices. "We're behind where we were last year and we have only five days to get ready for Newark Academy," he said. "It's going to be tough."

At the moment, the offense is behind the defense. That was evident in the scrimmage with PHS. "We didn't do as well as we had hoped to," said Leete, who described it as "fairly even." "We didn't do as well as we did against Peddie," he added.

In sum, Leete is not just crying wolf when he says the opener will be difficult. He takes a lighter, less experienced team to Livingston, one that has suffered injuries to key players and needs more practice.

With players like Chalifioux, Skrajeski and Harper back, Hun is still a potent team. But the scale will not be as lopsided in its favor this year.

HAMILTON DUE HERE

For Little Tiger Opener. Through scrimmages against Hunterdon, Howell Township and Hun—the latter on Saturday—Princeton High School coach Dick Wood has been able to report cautious progress.

"We're looking better. We're coming along." But he added, "We're not good yet; it's been slow."

The question is whether the Little Tigers can speed up the tempo of their development in time for Saturday's opener here against Hamilton. Kickoff will be at 11.

PHS can't afford not to be ready because, as Wood admits, "Hamilton will be a good test." Perhaps as tough as any the Blue and White will face all year. Unless Trenton surprises everyone again as it did last year when it won the Mercer County crown, Wood sees Hamilton as the team to beat this fall.

As for predictions, Wood refused to go out on a limb. Last year, PHS surprised highly-favored Hamilton by tying it, 17-17. "It will be harder to say what we might do this year," says Wood, "because this year we don't have the experience."

POSSIBLE STARTER: Dave Cowan, 6-0, 185-pound junior, is listed as a probable starter in Saturday's opener here with Hamilton. PHS coach Dick Wood said either Cowan or Tom Mason would start at tackle opposite Tony Federico, team co-captain.

DOUBLE THREAT: Steve Sanford, co-captain of the PHS eleven, has been cited for his play in pre-season scrimmages by his coach Dick Wood who reported that Steve ran the team well as a quarterback in the single wing and ran well himself as a halfback in the T formatioo.

Even if PHS should have trouble getting past Hamilton, Wood commented that he thought the team would be better off. The 1972 squad is larger than last year's, strong on juniors and sophomores.

"The juniors will get a lot of playing time which means they'll have less experience in the beginning but once they learn, they'll be good the rest of the year and it means we'll have a good team next year," said Wood.

Four Positions in Doubt. Wood is undecided between two men in four of the starting offensive slots. He plans to go with Gil Spencer and Chris Grazel at end; Tony Federico at tackle and either Dave Cowan or Tom Mason at the other tackle; Bart Harris and either Scott Van Arsdalen or Frank Caponi at guard; and Jeff Lewis or Ray Richards at center.

Steve Sanford will quarterback the team. Joe McGuinn will be tailback and Tom Hofgesang, wingback. Hyette Briscoe or Willie Alexander will start at fullback.

How strong is Hamilton? At the start of the season, Hornet coach Bill McEvoy saw his biggest problems as building an offensive line to spring his two talented halfbacks, Bob Harris and Shawn McRae. Both are as murderous as the barrels of a shotgun.

Harris is 195 and can run the 100 under 10 seconds. One step on the secondary and he is gone—as PHS found out last year. McCrae is 185. Both are starting their third year on the varsity.

Only three offensive linemen return: Jule Dolci, 215-pound tackle; Al Grover, 180-pound center and Charlie Tiggett, 6-1 end. The defense, one of the Hornets' strong points, features Mike Gore, a 200-pound guard, and Ron Delay (185) and Curtis Dalton (190) at tackle.

If PHS is to win, the defense must contain Harris and McCrae. The Blue and White has no one to match their speed and it doesn't figure to roll up the score against the Hornet defense. It will, says Wood simply, "be a real tough one."

Hun Good Test. In what Wood described as a pretty good test, PHS scrimmaged Hun on Saturday. For the first time, he was able to single out some of the performances: Bart Harris' play at offensive guard; Steve Sanford's running from the T formation; Willie Alexander and Hyette Briscoe "running better" as fullbacks, although they still need to improve their blocking; and Joe McGuinn "a lot better running and passing" from tailback. Greg Kline and Bob Zinsmeister both ran from the tailback slot as well. Both are small but very quick. "They seem to be able to take the punishment; we'll have to wait and see whether they hold up," observed Wood. If they do, PHS should have ample running backs.

On defense, Wood reported that Scott Ostroff and Arlice Hines played well as linebackers, as did Dane Black in his defensive half position. Tow n newcomers to the varsity squad, Lewis Drury and Craig Carlton, also gave evidence of being able to fill in at linebacker.

PDS TO OPEN SEASON

Against Montclair Friday. In a tough starting assignment for a rebuilding team, Princeton Day School will go against a formidable Montclair School eleven at 3:30 Friday at home.

Montclair and the Panthers have built up an exciting rivalry, since it began four years ago. Although PDS has only won once, back in 1968, each game has been close.

The visitors are expected to display a strong passing attack, which helped them trounce King School, 48-0, last Saturday. The Blue and White will play King next weekend.

In its scrimmage against George School on Saturday, pass defense was one of the Panthers' weaker points. Its front line, backed up by linebacker and co-captain John Kalpin contained the George running attack, but this will not be much help if the pass defense proves to be porous.

Co-captain Kirk Moore, who worked last year on the line, found the move back to the offensive backfield to his liking. He picked up sizeable yardage from the fullback slot with regularity.

Rob Gips and Paul Funk also helped to keep the Panthers moving well on the ground. The passing attack, with Dave Wagenseil throwing long and Tad vanDusen short, shows glimmers of promise.

The Panthers have showed definite signs of improvement, but Montclair, with one game already under its belt, will probably be more than they can handle at this early point in the season.

OPENINGS AVAILABLE

In YMCA Sport Classes. There are openings available in the junior and senior life saving classes and the skin and scuba programs, according to John Springer, aquatic and physical director for the YMCA.

Junior life saving is for boys 11 and older; the senior course is for boys 15 and up. Those who pass the skin and scuba course are certified at the national level.

Other courses in which a few openings remain are judo, karate, volleyball, badminton (men and women) and golf. Registration, in person, for these classes will end Saturday. Inquiries may be made by calling 924-4825.

TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

At Springdale. Sixteen teams qualified and eight survived the first round of match play in the annual Governors' Cup Tournament last weekend at Springdale Golf Club.

Two teams, Karl Pettit, Jr. and Asa Farr, and Glen Miller and Danforth Hall shared low net honors with 65s. Each team played with full handicaps, using better ball of partners for the 18-hole qualifying round. As usual, showers were a part of the day's weather story.

In first round action Sunday, Ted Tams and Glenn Eshbach defeated Pettit and Farr on the 19th hole. Tams sank a chip shot from the rough to the right of the first extra hole for a birdie 3 to take the match.

In other action, Bob Shillaber and Jack Sweeney defeated Alfred Gardiner and Bill Middlebrook, 3 and 2; Ralph Allaire and Dean Chace won from Bill Millman and Jack Mudge, 1 up in 19 holes; Mike Shillaber and Joe Masick defeated Don Shaw and Slover Hollister, 4 and 3; Bergy Bergesen and Lyle Fitch defeated Miller and Hall, 4 and 2.

Tom James and Dick Judge defeated Sam Chase and Ralph Turgeon, Ed Mead and Bill Shafer defeated Ed Johnson and Doug Walmsley, 4 and 2; and Alan Poole and Charlie Coppinger won from Woodrow Wirsig and Jim Litvak, 3 and 1. Second and third round play is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

TITLE DEFENDED SUCCESSFULLY: Ruth Thornton (right) retained the women's title at Springdale Golf Club Saturday with a 5-and-4 victory over Mary Wenzel in the final round.

BLAICHER WINS IN GOLF

Chamber Sponsors Tournament. The eighth annual Chamber of Commerce golf tournament, played last week at Forsgate Country Club, produced these winners:

Low Gross, Fred Blaicher; Low Net, Willis Paine; runner-up Low Net on match of cards, Alan Frank, defeating Robert Mooney. The Women's Flight was won by Debbie Pierson; with Linda Hoff as runner-up. All net scores were based on the Calloway handicap system.

This was the first year in which women participated. Additional prizes were awarded to other participants based on net scores. A feature of the tournament and dinner was a film of the 1971 Master's Golf Tournament.

THREE-TIME WINNER

Io Women's Golf. Mrs. Ruth Thornton won the Women's Championship at Springdale Golf Club last weekend for the third time, defeating Mrs. Mary Wenzel in the final round, 5 and 4. She was the defending champion and had also won in 1967.

In the semi-finals, Mrs. Thornton topped Mrs. Kate Litvak, 5 and 4. Earlier, she had won by 6-and-5 margins over both Mrs. Ruth Pettit and Mrs. Shirley Pearce.

Mrs. Debbie Pierson took the consolation final with a victory over Mrs. Elaine Cook. The first flight winner was Mrs. Kate Conover over Mrs. Carolyn Ford, while the second flight went to Mrs. Anne Poole, winner over Mrs. Rosemary Bordlemay.

HOLZMAN IS FIRST

In Sunfish Competition. In Sunday's sailing on Lake Carnegie, Bob Holzman returned to last season's form and captured first place in the Sunfish fleet.

Jack Kunz finished second and John Hopfield third. All skippers had to contend with the lake's notorious 180-degree wind shifts.

In other competition, Hector Poventud captured top honors among the Sloops while Ken Hill, enjoying his best day ever, triumphed among the Sunfish juniors.

TENNIS CLINIC SET

To Feature Mrs. Court. Arrangements have been made for a tennis clinic featuring Mrs. Margaret Court, the world's top woman player who won the Australian, French, Wimbledon and Forest Hills Championships last year.

The Australian star is in Princeton this week to make an instructional film for Scholastic Magazines. Although the location for the film has been set for the Princeton University courts, there are times when she may be working at other courts around town. It is, therefore, difficult to arrange a specific time for spectators to see her in action.

Consequently she has agreed to put on a free clinic this Thursday from 4 to 5 at the University Church Courts, opposite Parking Lot 16. In case of rain, the clinic will be held on the level E courts of Jadwin Gym.

BOWLING NOTES

Hinkson's Take Lead. After two weeks of play in the Nassau League at the Princeton Recreation Lanes, Hinkson's with 12 points enjoys a four-point lead over five other teams bunched at eight apiece.

Charles Bartolino and Joe Baldino paced Hinkson's with games of 214 and 202. High man was Grover Lumber's Tom Sculerati who rolled a 223. Between 207 and 201 were Ed Duncan, Bruce Camphell, Pat Hubbard, Albert Petrella and Burt Davis.

KFD and Hook & Ladder are tied for first in the Tri-County Firemen's League with 10 points each. Kingston and Dutch Neck trail with eight.

Mike Kopliner of No. 3 saw his chance for a 600 series go down the drain when he followed a 240 with 188-167 for 595. Bill Richardson had 210, Al Kren, 204-191; and Andred Cupples, 200. In the 190s were Norm Luck, George Luck, Mike Duvin (199), Don Drift, Ray Wyckoff and Bill Wesp.

PHS Alumnus Kicks 4 Field Goals for Indiana

Chris Gartner, who went from soccer to placekicker on the Princeton High School football team in his junior and senior years, is now kicking them farther than ever for Indiana University.

Gartner set a school record Saturday when he kicked field goals of 32, 47, 37 and 39 yards and two extra points to lead his team to a 26-8 football victory over Kentucky. The former Hoosier record of three field goals was set for two years ago by Don Warner against Michigan State.

Gartner, now a junior at Indiana, earned Mercer County honors in both his junior and senior years. As a senior in 1968 he was named to the all-Delaware Valley area second team.

PHS coach Dick Wood reported that in a pre-season contest last year, Gartner kicked a 62 yard field goal—just one yard less than the professional record set last year by Tom Dempsey of the New Orleans Saints.

HAC BEATEN

In Season's Opener. Extra points made the difference in Sunday's game between the Harrison Athletic Club and Ivy Inn, the opening contest for both teams in the Mercer County Flag Football League.

Both teams scored five touchdowns, but Ivy made three two-point conversions and won 36-30. Quarterback Bruce Sandvick teamed with Tony Boccanfuso, as he did so many times last season, to produce three touchdowns. He fired another scoring pass to Bill Bartolino, and ran in the fifth score. On the successful extra point attempts, he threw to Baccanfuso, Steve Peters and John Armonia.

George Packard, HAC quarterback, threw two touchdown passes apiece to Coley Donaldson and Greg Spady, and one to Dennis Reigle. HAC will meet the Merry-Go-Round Bar this Sunday at 11 at Lawrence.

In West Windsor Tennis. Kevin Little and Larry Martz won the annual boys' doubles tennis title in West Windsor by defeating Jeff Boodley and Henry Prati, 6-1, 6-1.

In the men's singles, the four semi finalists in the blue division are Walter Carvin, Dave Singer, Ken Syberg and Ted Peck. The championship events will be played this weekend.

Carvin defeated Jay Sexton, 7-5, 6-1, and Bob Edelblut, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. Singer overcame Herb Horowitz, 4 6,7-6,6-3, and Ed Jordi, 6-2, 6-1. Syberg conquered Jack Baer, 6-2,6-2, while Peck defeated Bob Duncan, 3 6,6-4,7 6. In earlier matches, Edelblut had beaten Bill Christensen; Jordi defeated Bob Neilsen; and Duncan had overcome Jay Cassen.

PHS RUNNERS WIN

Over St. Anthony's. In its first meet of the season, the Princeton High School cross country team defeated St. Anthony's Monday, 21-36.

PHS team captain Roland Smith captured first place with a time of 12:31. Mark Hoffman (12:40) and Tom Snow (13:16) finished third and fourth for the Little Tigers. Mike Coda came in sixth and Peter Nichols seventh.

Other varsity runners supporting coach Larry Ivan's squad were Bill Frazier, John Woodside and Tom Mitchell. Princeton also won the jayvee match, 24-36, with Bruce Wells posting the best time for the victors for third place.

MEETING THURSDAY

Of Recreation Board. Its regularly scheduled meeting last week postponed for lack of a quorum, the Princeton Recreation Board will meet Thursday evening at 8:15 in Room 74 in the temporary classroom building at the rear of the high school.

One of the agenda items the board will discuss will be whether to redraw new outdoor lighting plans for the swimming pool complex and send them out for rebid. Last spring, the board had attempted to have outdoor lights installed in time for the swimming season but the only bid it received was some $8,000 more than it had budgeted. It was rejected.

THE HAPPY MEDIOCRITY
by Elaine Kendall
author of The Upper Hand

A lively, entertaining, and illuminating look at the quality of American food, housing, clothing, leisure, and love by a shrewd and provocative observer of contemporary manners and morals.

How and why did America become the land of 3½-inch hamburgers, 12-by-60-foot mobile homes, and leisure villages? In this wise and trenchant appraisal of America's life-style — or lack of it — Elaine Kendall explains what has happened to make us accept the second-rate, not really choosing mediocrity but settling for it nevertheless. From our business-like eating habits (efficiently catered to by such institutions as McDonald's) to our comforting sexual myths (in fact, the Puritans frowned on abstinence, not participation) Mrs. Kendall dissects the values and attitudes that have made this country equate "average" with "best."

Popular sociology at its most intelligent and readable, THE HAPPY MEDIOCRITY bears out the New York Times' praise for Mrs. Kendall's "ability to melt chunky subjects into her mluid style and entertain while doing so."

NO POLITICS . . .

On Non-Returnables. Democrats and Republicans alike are supporting the state bill scheduled for public hearing in Trenton this Wednesday prohibiting the sale of non-returnable bottles — the so-called "ban the bottle" measure.

Borough Republican candidates Robert W. Cawley for mayor, and Arthur P. Morgan and Thomas J. Cawley for Council, sent telegrams to Kenneth Wilson, chairman of the Assembly's Air and Water Pollution & Public Health Committee, urging passage of the bill.

Borough Democratic Councilman John Strange, running for a second term, announced this week that he would be in Trenton to testify in person. Mr. Strange is secretary of the Stony Brook Sewerage Authority and is Council's member on the Joint Sewer Operating Committee.

On Saturday, October 9 — time and place to be announced — Borough and Township governing bodies will hold a joint public hearing on parallel local ordinances banning the sale of the non returnables.

SEWER GROUP TO MEET

Authority Has Agenda. The Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority will hold its regular public meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall under the chairmanship of E. L. Bixby of Pennington.

On the agenda is a review of the construction schedule and finances for the new six municipality regional sewer. The Authority will also discuss specifications for an executive director and will talk about the proposed by-laws concerning public participation in the affairs of the Authority.

Princeton's representatives are John Strange, for the Borough and Denn Chace for the Township. Mr. Strange is also secretary of the Authority.

MAYOR GIBSON COMING

For Floyd Campaign. Kenneth A. Gibson, mayor of Newark, will come to Princeton Sunday, October 3, to join Township Mayor James A. Floyd and Committeeman Thomas Hartmann at a fund-raising reception, to be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard S. Mele, 988 Kingston Road.

Those who wish to attend the 6-8 p.m. reception may call Mrs. Dede Nini, 924-3788, for information.

Mayor Gibson will speak at Princeton University at a public meeting earlier that afternoon.

AIDE IS NAMED

For Coan Campaign. Mrs. Wanda P. Colcord, 50 Hodge Road, has been appointed chairman of the finance committee for Mrs. Marie Coan.

Mrs. Coan is running for mayor of the Borough as an Independent. A Democrat, Mrs. Coan is affiliated with the Princeton Democratic Association.

YM-YWCA EXPRESS LOSS

At Death of Robert Smith. The boards of directors of the YMCA and the YWCA passed the following resolution at their September meetings, after the death of staff member Robert Smith on September 11 in Scotland:

". . . Resolved to communicate to Mrs. Smith and to share with the 'Y' family and the larger community the sense of our profound loss of a warm friend and a faithful servant of the 'Y' and all that the 'Y' represents and the gratitude we feel for:

"His having come to work with and for us some 12 years ago; his large capacity for friendship; his ability to relate to children, young people and adults alike; his skill in combining warmth with firmness;

"His ever-jovial greeting or jest from behind the pool desk whether he was feeling well or poorly; his delightful pride in his Scottish origins."

VOLUNTEERS' ALERT

Y.E.S. Needs You. The Youth Employment Service, 120 John Street, is in need of volunteers who will serve a two-hour shift from 1 to 3 or 3 to 5 on weekdays, according to Mrs. Dorothy Stratton, office manager.

"We urgently need responsible people to help us, particularly in the 3 to 5 time slot." Mrs. Stratton says. "It's a busy place and you will be helping to bring together employers and young workers. Please call Mrs. Ruth Shoemaker at 924-7599 and join the YES staff."

NEW PROGRAM BEGINS

For Red Cross Youth. The new youth program of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will begin at a 3 p.m. meeting this Thursday at the chapter headquarters, 182 North Harrison Street.

Seventeen students from East Windsor, Princeton Regional Schools and Stuart Country Day School held a planning session last Thursday. Interested high school students are invited to join the effort to design and execute community projects.

The group has decided to clean out the Brophy building at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. The building is used for the wrapping and storing of Christmas gifts. It has also begun to compile a list of shut-ins to visit during the holidays.

The Red Cross Youth Program in the elementary schools will continue as in the past. Mrs. Sally Groden is youth director. Further information is available at 924-2404.

The Princeton Red Cross Chapter area includes Montgomery Township, Princeton, Hightstown, East and West Windsor, Cranbury, Plainsboro and Allentown.

News Of The CHURCHES

CHURCH SCHOOL REVISED

By Trinity. Trinity Episcopal Church, Mercer Street, will launch its new Christian Education program this Sunday.

There will be different courses in each of the three terms, fall, winter and spring. Electives are open to children in grade 2 up and will be in multi-age groupings.

The courses come under three group headings: Christian Church heritage, church mission, and expressive arts in a religious context.

The new program is the result of summer-long study by the Christian Education Task Force, chaired by Professor John V. Fleming. Mrs. Mary B. Rice is vice-chairman for administration and Mrs. Carolyn Hunt is vice-chairman for course development. The clergy staff on the task force are the Rev. James Whittemore, rector, and the Rev. Joseph S. Harrison.

Outreach courses this term are "Ecology and All Things Created," open to 2nd, 3rd and 4th graders and stressing the Christian doctrine of stewardship. "Mission Possible: Being a Christian in 1971" will be led by the Rev. John Gwynn. The emphasis is on the needs of modern society and Christian responsibility.

Christian heritage courses include "The Life and Times of Jesus," open to 2nd, 3rd and 4th graders. Modern and classical music as well as art will augment the primary gospel account of Jesus' life. "Heroes of the Faith," open to 5th, 6th and 7th grade, begins with the Book of Acts in a study of the lives of those who have shaped church history. Professor Flemming will lead the class.

The expressive arts will keynote such classes as "Singing What We Believe," a course open to 3rd and 4th grades and led by Miss Kathy Herbert. The class offers an opportunity to learn about hymns and spiritual songs, and to become more adept at singing.

"Rebirth and Drama," open to children from grade two through seven, will employ the medium of drama in an effort to develop a deeper sense of self and a keener awareness of others. Miss Sharon Bown and Miss Denise Shulz are the class leaders. The fall term class has been filled, but the Church School hopes to repeat it during the Winter term.

Liturgical dance is also being offered, taught by Miss Kay Walker. The class will have an opportunity to participate in church services.

In addition to the elective classes, there will be regular classes for nursery through first grade. An 8th grade confirmation class and high school and adult forums will also be offered.

A family potluck supper will be held at Trinity at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday. The fall plans for the Church School will be discussed. Registration for church school is set for 7 to 8 p.m. in Kaeser Hall.

SUNDAY PROGRAM SET

At St. Andrew's. The Christian education program at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church begins this Sunday. The Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton will preach at the 10 a.m. worship service on the topic, "The Jesus Freak," and the sacrament of baptism will be administered.

Youth and adult classes meet from 11 to 12. The adult classes will be held in six-week units, beginning with "Sermonic Themes and What You Think," led by the Rev. Mr. Liffiton, and "People Games," a discussion of patterns of inter-personal relationships, based upon Eric Berne's book.

The crib room, nursery and kindergarten children begin classes at 10 a.m. A continuous program will be held until noon.

Children in grades 1 to 6 will attend the first part of the worship service, leaving after the Children's Story. There will be a continuous program involving lesson - discussion, crafts and music, lasting until noon.

CHURCH SCHOOL RESUMES

At Stony Brook Meeting. The Religious Society of Friends, better known as the Quakers, will open their First Day School this Sunday. Classes for children of all ages begin at 11 a.m.

The curriculum includes learning about children in other lands and how people lived in Biblical times, a study of the Old and New Testaments, and a consideration of the development of religious thought in both Christianity and other religions. The Young Friends program for high school students also begins this Sunday.

Although the instruction is from the point of view of the Friends, other attitudes are welcomed. An opportunity is made available for parents of different faiths or with no religious affiliation to provide their children with religious instruction without indoctrination.

Further information on First Day School may be obtained by calling John Howell, 466-2905, or Rosemarie Lechner, 924 7034.

BAPTISTS TO MEET

In Penns Neck Church. The American Baptist churches of the Trenton area, known as the Capitol Cluster, will have meetings of the Lay Academy on the four Tuesday evenings of October in the Princeton Baptist Church at Penns Neck.

Rev. Dr. Carl Morgan, for many years professor of New Testament at Eastern Baptist Seminary, will teach a course in "Interpreting the parables." Registration, including the text, is $5. Class hours are 7:45 to 9:30 p.m.

The course is open to all interested persons. It is planned for the training of lay leadership in the American Baptist congregations. Registration may be made through the Rev. Dr. Walter P. Carvin, pastor of the Penns Neck church.

DR. SHINN TO SPEAK

At Princeton Seminary. "Technology and the Future of Man: The Churches' Concern" will be discussed on Monday at Princeton Theology Seminary by the Rev. Dr. Roger L. Shinn, dean of instruction at Union Theological Seminary, New York. He will speak at 7:45 p.m. in the auditorium of the Campus Center.

The lecture inaugurates a series made possible by an S&H Foundation grant to the Seminary. The focus is the five-year Church and Society study to be made by the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches. The lectures will emphasize the question of science and the quality of life.

BULLETIN NOTES

Dean Ernest Gordon will lead the worship service in Princeton University Chapel at 11 this Sunday.

The new director and chaplain at the Wesley Foundation at Princeton University will conduct the 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday at Princeton United Methodist Church. Formerly assistant dean of religious life at Stevens College, Columbia, Mo., the Rev. Mr. Kirby lives with his wife and 19-month-old son at 102 Cypress Drive, East Windsor. He replaces the Rev. Dr. Theodore Linn, who is now assistant professor of religion at Drew University.

Barbecued spare ribs and Southern fried chicken are on the menu this Saturday at the Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 43° Birch Avenue. Serving is from noon until 7 p.m., and take-out orders may be arranged. Funds raised will go towards the purchase of new pews for the church.

The Rev. Robert Marlin of the Fund for Theological Education will preach at 11 on Sunday in the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church.

In addition, children from families that receive Public Assistance from Aid to Families with Dependent Children or the Food Stamp Program are eligible for a free meal.

Unusual circumstances such as illness or death in the family, temporary disability, and seasonal unemployment are also taken into account when determining eligibility.

Parents who feel that their children are eligible should apply for free meals for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances of hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school meals. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Under the provisions of the policy the Director of Food Services will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. Dr. Charles Huebet, whose office is in the John Witherspoon School, Walnut Lane, Princeton, N. J., has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of or discrimination against any student unable to pay the cost of a meal.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Board of Education, located at Stony Brook Administration Building, Lawrenceville Road, Princeton, New Jersey, where it may be reviewed by any interested person.

Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most historic, if not the most beautiful. ■ Just 15 homes will be custom built from your plans or ours abutting Greenacres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land . . . and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. ■ Isn't all this worth $50,000 or more?
